Chief Nally takes charge

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - In a room filled with colleagues, town officials, families and friends, Bernard Nally ascended to the top rank of Wilmington Police Chief during a triumphant and emotional swearing-in ceremony at the Town Hall on Thursday, January 11.

The occasion marked Chief Nally's first day as Wilmington's top law enforcer and his last day as deputy chief, a post he had held at the Wilmington Police Department for seventeen years. Nally joined the Wilmington Police Department in 1968.

The position of Deputy Chief of the Wilmington Police Department is now embodied by Robert Spencer, who had been promoted by Cairra from lieutenant.

"I'm so happy to have such a turnout," said Chief Nally in an acceptance speech given shortly after Town Clerk Kay Scanlon administered his oath. "I want to thank Town Manager Michael Cairra for having confidence in me to lead this department. As far as I know, it's the best department around."

Middle school's wish list includes:

Additional staffing

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - As it turns its attention to its second year in the school system, the administration at the Wilmington Middle School has presented to the School Committee its requested new initiatives for Fiscal Year 2002.

The Superintendent's Office and schools throughout the system have all drafted their budget requests for the coming year, but at the January 10 School Committee meeting it was Middle School Principal Suzanne Garfield who carried the first half of the meeting and fielded the most questions about her school's financial wish list. It is a list dominated mostly by staffing requests.

Said Garfield, "I want to discuss staffing requests in a global way because our requests for these positions really have the same reasons."

The unifying thread to all of the initiatives, said Principal Garfield, is to finally establish equity between the three houses that comprise the new Middle School. From there, the following goals and principles will take shape: a small and caring community of learning will be created; students will be able to develop three-year relationships with the staff; the school will be staffed as designed and intended by the School Committee; the assistance for at-risk students will be greatly improved; parental contact will become more efficient; and class sizes will appropriately decrease.

Among those that Garfield and

Wilmington joins Literacy Council

By STACEY E. STEVENS

WILMINGTON - According to statistics taken from a 1995 Massachusetts Department of Education survey on Literacy in the Commonwealth, 19% of Massachusetts residents are functionally illiterate. Out of an estimated 19,000 residents in Wilmington, 2,200 of those residents were found to be functionally illiterate.

What can be done for adults who lack the basic literacy skills to live their lives to the fullest? Who are unable to comprehend instructions on medicine, food and chemical labels? Who can't help their children with their schoolwork or read to them for pleasure? Who can't obtain citizenship, better housing, a driver's license, a G.E.D. or the equivalent? Read street signs, find their way around through public transportation or go shopping by themselves? Read and write letters, read newspapers, fill out job applications, health insurance forms and other types of paperwork? Demonstrate competency during job interviews? Communicate with co-workers, their children's doctors and teachers, store clerks and next-door neighbors? Follow recipes and write checks? Participate in voting and other important community activities?

On May 23, 2000, more assistance became available. The Massachusetts Department of Education approved a grant which allowed the Eastern Massachusetts Literacy Council to expand its current service area to include six new

Public forum draws large attendance

Ipswich River ideas presented

By CHARLOTTE COOPER

WILMINGTON - Town officials, citizens, state officials, state representatives and special interest groups gathered at a public forum at the Town Hall on Wednesday, January 10 to hear Planners Collaborative Inc. discuss plans for protecting the Ipswich River.

The plan includes the towns within the Ipswich River Watershed area: Burlington, Wilmington, Reading, and North Reading.

"We've been working for the past ten months on the project," Planners Collaborative representative Tim Reardon said.

For the Second Subregional Forum, Reardon and his group presented their recommendations for water supply, wastewater, open space and growth management.

"There are two studies that are actually going on in Ipswich," said Mr. Reardon.

Mr. Reardon said that this one is the Planning for Growth study and funding for the project is a cooperative effort between the towns and the state. He added that the Executive Office for Environmental Affairs is also funding a similar study that's watershed-wide.

"It goes all the way to Plum Island Sound [and is] called Communities Connected by Water," said Mr. Reardon.

The intent of the Planning for Growth Project is to involve all four towns within the watershed in a cooperative effort to protect water quality. Efforts need to be made by towns and citizens to assure adequate supplies of portable water; restoration of natural stream-flow patterns; enhancement of the river corridor's value as a wildlife habitat; and the enabling of recreational uses that will support local businesses and provide economic benefit to the region.

"Our vision is to have the towns develop an impact plan," said Mr. Reardon. He recommended that the plan should include provisions to enact By-Laws to protect the wetlands, water and landscaping.

"Towns need to take a leadership role."

The recommendations with regard to water supply include a jointly funded Subregional Water Conservation Coordinator position as part of planning for growth. The position is for one person, and funding for the position would be split between the four towns. The duties of the coordinator would include working with town officials, researching feasible conservation methods, providing conservation education to residents, determining of and enforcing of water bans, identifying state and federal funding for conservation projects and other conservation-related issues.

"Water withdrawals have a serious impact during summer [low-flow months]," Mr. Reardon said. He suggested purchasing water from outside sources, such as the

IRS probe

Two locals indicted

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON/TEWKSBURY - The Internal Revenue Service has charged a Wilmington man and a Tewksbury woman with conspiring to obstruct the audits of two companies in Stoneham.

James S. Konaxis, 46, of Dell Drive in Wilmington, and Christina Mazzola Svendsen, 29, of Arkansas Road in Tewksbury, are both facing such charges as they pertain to the IRS audits of Stoneham Towing, Inc. and Bodyworks, Inc. in Stoneham.

It is alleged by United States Attorney Donald K. Stern that the two companies made false deductions on their U.S. Corporate Income Tax returns in the years 1992, 1993 and 1994.

Konaxis and Svendsen are not alone. Six other individuals were charged in the same indictment that recently came down from a federal grand jury: Stephen J. Mazzola, 33, of Stoneham; Sebastian J. Mazzola, 58, of Boca

WHS students attended and honored at history conference

WILMINGTON - Thirty-four Honors and Advanced Placement students from Wilmington High School (WHS) participated in the 28th annual Phi Alpha Theta State History Conference at Framingham State College. Students spent three months researching topics ranging from "Calvin Coolidge: A Worthwhile President?" to Vietnam, 25 years later: Any Lessons Learned? In December the students submitted their papers to be read by the History Department.

The day long conference was sponsored by Upsilon Alpha, Framingham State's chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, the International Honor Society in History. During the day students participated in two seminars, one on the topic of their paper and a second one on their choice. During both seminars there were interesting and lively discussions.

Over 500 students from 25 high schools attended the conference. All of the students received a certificate of participation. WHS teachers who supervised the research papers were Mr. Carr, Mr. Cripps and Ms. Russell. Mr. Carr was a moderator for the seminar on "The Life of a Civil War Soldier." The following students received honorable mention awards:

Lauren Olson "Government Support for the Arts: Appropriate or Not?"

Margo Hery, Katie Sullivan, Amanda Barasso "Kicking Butts: The War on the American Tobacco Industry."

Christopher Cunningham (honorable mention for the second consecutive year) "Sweated Gold: Slave Labor in Ancient Greece, Egypt and Rome."

Who Are Your Dependents?

You can claim a dependent on your tax return even if that person has income of his or her own as long as you can prove that you provide more than half of his or her support during the year.

Say your adult child has just graduated college and is now working. It may be worthwhile to keep your exemption by paying his or her living expenses to stay over the 50 percent mark, and let your younger worker save the earnings.

Even if a retired parent doesn't live with you, you can still claim him or her as a dependent as long as you provide more than half their support. If several children support the folks jointly, they can file IRS form 2120, a multiple support agreement, to assign the dependency exemption to one of them. This assignment can be changed every year. But you can't take an exemption for a parent with income over $2,800. Social Security benefits are income only insofar as they are taxed.

Tax savings are available. Let us show you where. See the tax professionals at

Mulling a mall

Call it mall madness, but don't describe it as the fun kind that sends thousands of crazed customers crowding to department stores and novelty shoppes with coupons in hand and sales in mind.

Instead, describe this bit of mall madness as the feverish opposition with which many Tewksbury residents have reacted to the news that Mills Corporation might be quietly considering Rocco's Landfill as a possible location for one of its mighty megamalls.

The folks at Mills Corporation know well that such widespread opponents in Tewksbury exist. Earlier this week, I called the Virginia-based company and spoke with New England Spokesman David D'Onofrio. I told him that I had in my hand a letter to the editor expressing opposition to his corporation's idea for a mall, and I asked him if he had a diagram or an outline of any possible plans that he could FAX me.

He asked me if, by chance, the letter was written by a Keith Rauseo, whose opinion, incidentally, can be seen to the right of this column. Rest assured, those of you in Tewksbury, the folks at Mills Corporation are beginning to hear you loud and clear.

D'Onofrio, who was agreeable and helpful, reported that no such visual outlines of a possible mall exist just yet.

In fact, D'Onofrio continued to say that Mills Corporation does not have any statements to make right now because nothing is set in stone. The company seems, at this point, to be simply mulling the idea of building its mall at Rocco's Landfill because their proposal to build it in Weymouth was shot down when a united front of locals drew a sharp line in the sand.

The cons of having a big-time mall built in Tewksbury are immediately obvious to anyone who cherishes the quaint, neighborly structure of the community. For starters, the traffic, which would generate literally tens of thousands of motorists a day, would create headaches as piercing as waiting in line at a department store for a Playstation 2 on Christmas Eve. Secondly, neighboring residential streets would lose their touch of sleepy, small town Americana and give way to throughways for hordes of people in a mad dash to shop till they drop. A new megamall would certainly change the face, indeed the character, of Tewksbury. Above all else, many officials in Tewksbury have described the whole idea itself as nearly impossible.

However, has anyone asked themselves what the pluses might be?

Would a mall boost the economic health of the community? Would it create an unprecedented increase in the number of jobs in town? Money isn't everything, but an abundance of it does afford much security and opportunity.

Would having such a commercially successful enterprise in Tewksbury give residents and town officials more leverage in pursuing other projects and matters that are in the best interest of the town?

And here's a question that begs an honest answer: Quite simply, would you enjoy having a mall in town? Come Christmastime, would it be so much better to have a place to go in town instead of having to brave the gridlock on Routes 128 and 93? Is there any kind of store that you wish were in your home town, so that you wouldn't have to travel so far simply to browse or to pick up something you need?

Such questions are raised not in support of favorable answers, just in the interest of taking in the complete picture. After all, it's true that a new mall at Rocco's Landfill would dramatically change the town of Tewksbury forever. Some people embrace change. Others do not. A widespread, united front of Tewksbury residents against the construction of a supermall seems inevitable, even perhaps justified and heartfelt, but before letting out the first battle cry it might be worth it to try and draw a list of pros to go alongside the immediately apparent cons.

DPW employee: Plowing not a game

Dear Editor:
This letter is in response to the person who thinks that the people who plow for the town of Wilmington think that it is a game.
First, I would like to say that I work for the DPW and that the men of the DPW, Water Dept., and the private contractors take great pride in the way our streets look after a storm. We are the men and women who are out in the cold stormy nights while everybody else is sitting down with their family to have supper or getting ready for bed.

We spend long, sleepless nights in those trucks so that the streets are safe to drive. So the answer to your question is "No," we do not think plowing is a game, it's very serious to us.

Thank you,
Joseph Stygles
DPW Employee

Sullivan applauded for professionalism and efficiency

Dear Editor:
I wish to express my sincere appreciation and gratitude to Planning and Conservation Director Sean Sullivan for all of his years and dedication to the Town of Tewksbury and to the Conservation Commission.

I have been privileged to work with Sean for many years, both as Conservation Chairman and member and previously as a Selectman in the Town of Tewksbury. Sean has always displayed professionalism and efficiency with any issue involving Planning and Conservation. I feel that the people of Tewksbury will miss him in this capacity.

I wish Sean and his family the very best in his endeavors with the Town of Hudson, New Hampshire, and I do not hesitate to add that he will be a tremendous asset to their community.

Sincerely,
William D. Hallisey

A former Town Crier editor weighs in on the winter wonderland

Sure, winter can be a bummer. We got home from California last week, and I had to clean a foot of snow off my car and then drive home from Portland. The windshield wipers were frozen and, no matter what I did, I couldn't make them work. My hands were cold, and I wanted to be back in sunny California.

But watching the news today, I'm not so sure I'd want to be in California right now. I'll take New England any time.

I was sitting around this afternoon without a whole lot to do. I read Shawn's column in the Jan. 3 Town Crier about how much he doesn't particularly care for the wintertime.

I walked into the living room and started playing with the dog. It occurred to me that I hadn't taken her for a walk recently. So I went to the closet and got my coat and her leash and dragged her out the door. Yeah, right.

As I walked down the road with the dog, I was thinking about how much I really love winter. Of course, I couldn't love a winter walk any more than my dog, Maggie, does. She loves to play in the snow, and there's always something new for her to smell. It's quiet and beautiful and there aren't a whole lot of people around. There were some bird tracks in the snow, a lot of them, actually. I think they were crows' tracks, judging by the size.

I have to confess that living in the woods on the coast of Maine makes winter a whole lot more beautiful. Even when I lived in Wilmington, though, I loved snowy days. I didn't know which to grab first, the snow shovel or my camera.

If nothing else, a walk down your street on a snowy day gives you a chance to meet some of your neighbors. It takes a snowstorm to bring them out into their yards first thing in the morning.

No longer working on the paper is great on Wednesdays, knowing that I have no deadline. One thing I do miss, though, is the photography. Oh, I can take lots of pictures here in Maine, but it was a whole lot more fun taking pictures for a purpose. And a snowstorm was a blast. I'd grab the camera and head out.

Sure, some of the photos might have become cliché, but I had a great time taking them.

I haven't even mentioned skiing yet, but I'll spare you. You don't want to get me started on skiing.

I'm sure that some people will grumble about my attitude, but it suits me fine. I am one of those people who can have fun doing just about anything.

The mere fact that it's cold outside makes it all the more comfortable when I come inside where it's nice and warm. As long as I'm dressed for it, I actually like to be outside in the cold weather. Of course, in one respect, it's kind of like California. Nice to visit, but I wouldn't want to stay too long.

Clarkin: Looking beyond Full Time Kindergarten

It is important to note that the opinions expressed here are those of School Committee member Susanne Clarkin alone. They may not represent the other members of the committee.

Dear Editor:
It all seems so simple.

A recent survey was completed by the Wilmington School Department that showed that parents were overwhelmingly in support of Full Time Kindergarten. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts is in favor of this concept and has made start-up Grant Money available to aid school systems. The grant money is only for one year and only funds a portion of the costs. Thereafter, the school system assumes the costs of continuing implementation of the program. In Wilmington's case, the Administration is proposing six classrooms as full-time and the remaining ten classrooms will be half-day. The decision as to which child would be assigned to which program has not been made. Finding a fair and equitable system of doing so would seem a daunting task.

But before the taxpayers jump on the Full Time Kindergarten bandwagon, review the other major priorities facing the Wilmington School System this year:

• CLASS SIZES. Research is very clear that smaller class sizes pays dividends in test scores.

• MCAS. Our scores are not what they should be. Taking MCAS alone as a measurement tool is somewhat misleading. Nonetheless, if one were to examine SAT scores, Stanford scores and Iowa scores, the average MCAS scores are not an aberration. This year's tenth graders will not receive a high school diploma if they do not pass the rigorous standards of this test. Curriculum improvement, textbook acquisition (more than $200,000 is proposed in this year's budget) and professional development are just three of the many factors that must be addressed.

• HIGH SCHOOL ACCREDITATION. The high school report was clear that we must improve in several areas, such as Guidance Services, improve funding and implementation of technology and increase access to library services.

• SPACE. It is looming again as an issue. According to our enrollment projections and the high school principal, we will be at capacity at Wilmington High School in three to five years. Next year, there will be 950 students in three grades at the new Middle School. The high school capacity is 960 for four grades.

• SPECIAL EDUCATION. It will cost an additional $400,000 to serve our existing population next year.

• TECHNOLOGY. We must face the fact that colleges and businesses are demanding a computer-literate student. We have a long way to go in meeting that expectation.

• TRANSPORTATION. Bus and minivan services could cost an additional $350,000 next year.

If the Wilmington Public Schools were to ask if parents supported improving test scores, providing adequate textbooks, meeting the High School Accreditation requirements, enhancing technology, serving our Special Needs students and continuing to provide bus services, the surveys would be returned with equally resounding results.

This year, the price tag of the new initiatives exceeds $2.6 million. Additional increases in fixed costs equal another $2 million.

In the next month, it will be a difficult task of the School Committee to balance the needs of the entire school system against what the town can afford.

And it will not be simple.

Susanne Clarkin
Wilmington School Committee member

Resident: Preserve neighborhoods, oppose mall

Dear Editor:
Here are some details concerning the proposed mega-mall at Rocco's landfill.

The project that Weymouth rejected called for 175 stores on 155 acres, with an estimated 66,000 daily traffic trips in and out of the site. Weymouth had a good reason to worry about the traffic. While the Rocco's site is only 102 acres, there is other land nearby that Mills Corp. could pursue.

Other people in town may have known about Mills Corporation's interest, but I had not heard anything about it until someone told me about a recent article in the Quincy Patriot-Ledger. Our town and state officials knew about the proposed mall because the article quoted three of them. I would like to reprint those quotes, so everyone can get an idea of what we are in for.

About the landfill, outgoing Planning and Conservation Director Sean Sullivan said, "It's a complex site with a lot of complex environmental issues related to it. But should they be interested, we would openly entertain using that land for any and all purposes."

It would have been nice if our conservation director had entertained "conservation" as a better purpose than a mega-mall. Will our planning department continue its tradition of welcoming any development we can get? Paint factories filled with chemicals, immense refrigeration warehouses, huge apartment complexes, and now mega-malls?

Selectman Kevin Anderson said, "We would never accept the mall proposal using the local streets. It would just be impossible to do. If we can then go forward and get an exit ramp or interchange, absolutely, we'd love to investigate this further."

Why? Has anyone ever seen an access road off an interstate highway that is not connected to a surface street? Has anyone ever seen a mall that is only accessible from a highway and not from any surface street? Any exit off Route 93 that provides access to the mall would be connected to neighborhoods on both South Street in Tewksbury and Ballardvale Street in Wilmington.

State Representative Jim Miceli was quoted in the article. In it, he acknowledges that Mills Corporation's representatives have made inquiries about the landfill.

Said Miceli, "They're really trying to keep it quiet. They're not broadcasting this."

If our representative knows the developers are trying to keep it quiet, and he also knows that our residents will oppose it, then why didn't he make us aware of it?

The best way to stop the mall is to start working while it is still in the discussion stage, so that it never gets past that stage. If we learned nothing else from the paint factory fiasco, it is that we have to stay alert so these things cannot sneak into town.

About 15 years ago, there was little development along the Nashua/Tyngsboro line. Then they built the Pheasant Lane Mall, and the area exploded. Can you imagine similar development and traffic in Tewksbury?

The Mills Corporation's mall will just be the start. Malls do not stand alone. They always bring more development to the area around them. South Street is an established residential area. Does Tewksbury feel it is necessary to sacrifice the quality of life of those residents for monetary gain? Money isn't everything.

If you oppose even the discussion of this project, I urge you to contact your town and state officials and let your neighbors know, as well, so that they can follow suit. The voices of the townspeople defeated this project in Weymouth and those voices can also defeat it in Tewksbury.

Minuteman Senior Services

Senior Santa brings holiday joy

Dear Editor:
Minutemen Senior Services wishes to thank all those who helped make the holiday season a bit brighter for nearly 500 homebound elders by participating in our Senior Santa Project. For the fifth year in a row, Kathy Fields and her staff at the Crafty Yankee set up a Giving Tree in their Lexington Center store, bearing gift suggestions for area seniors who usually have no other source of celebration. Visitors selected tags with ideas ranging from clothing to books to gift certificates and brought the gifts to the Crafty Yankee, where they were beautifully wrapped. These "surprise packages" were then delivered to grateful seniors by Minutemen staff and area volunteers, included some affiliated with Shir Tikvah in Winchester, the National Charity League of Concord and SEWA, a local woman's service organization. This is a monumental community effort and Minutemen wishes to thank all those involved.

The reward is best expressed by an elderly couple who received a Senior Santa surprise. Their thank you note read, "We were overcome by the generosity of Senior Santa. Please extend our gratitude... to the wonderful group of people responsible for our blessings."

Thanks to all who help Minutemen help area seniors during the holiday season and throughout the year!

High speed chase ends in Wilmington

WILMINGTON — Two men were arrested by Massachusetts state police following an armed robbery in Londonderry, N.H., and a high-speed chase through two states that ended in Wilmington last Wednesday. State police Sgt. Ronald Sieberg said the men were driving a stolen car, which crashed at the Route 129 exit ramp off Interstate 93 about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday. The pair then ran off into nearby woods. About half an hour later, police arrested 21-year-old Robert Clough, 21, of Somerville and 22-year-old Michael Wynn, 22, of Lynn. Clough was the driver of the car.

According to Sieberg, state police in New Hampshire began the chase of the stolen car, which he said had North Carolina license plates. In Londonderry, the pair also had gotten away with undetermined amount of cash and a leather coat, and one of them was carrying a BB gun. The pair drove south into Massachusetts, but the car spun out of control at exit ramp in Wilmington. Sieberg said Clough and Wynn were held at the Andover state police barracks on charges including being fugitives from justice in New Hampshire and receiving a stolen motor vehicle. He said they were expected to be arraigned later Thursday.

Town Election update Planning Board Chairman Garratt throws hat in Selectmen ring

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN
WILMINGTON - One candidate for Selectmen has handed in his nomination papers for the town election in April, and the pool of other likely candidates for the board has expanded by one in the past week. Planning Board Chairman Scott Garratt has visited the Town Clerk's Office at the Town Hall and has taken out nomination papers for one of the two seats available on the Board of Selectmen. Daryn Marsh, who ran for Selectmen last year and collected 25% of the vote, has officially handed in his nomination papers, signatures and all. Marsh hopes to secure one of the two available Selectmen seats as well. "I didn't have one refusal," an excited Marsh stated about the 130 signatures that he collected. "In fact, I had quite a lot of requests from people who would see me and ask me if I had my nomination papers with me." Marsh handed his papers in after work on Tuesday, January 16. "I have never seen such encouragement from people," said Marsh. "I'm encouraged by the incredible positive response."

Tewksbury Library Excitement in reading for 3rd & 4th graders

TEWKSBURY - Have you been to a movie lately that you just couldn't wait to talk to your friends about? How about your favorite television show: you know the one you couldn't wait to get to school and compare notes with your friends about? When was the last time you felt like that about a book?

Why not start out the New Year by joining a book discussion group at the Tewksbury Public Library? We promise, this is not like school! There are no tests, and there are no right or wrong answers! You don't even have to talk if you don't want to. However, even reluctant speakers usually find themselves drawn into some pretty lively discussions. Oh, by the way, you can even say you don't like the book or the author!

So, here's the deal... For absolutely no cost you can enjoy comedy, adventure, fantasy, drama, and history. You can join old friends and meet new ones and impress your teachers with your vast knowledge of literature from different viewpoints.

The Tewksbury Library's third and fourth grade student/parent book discussion group will meet on Monday evening January 22 at 6:30 p.m. to talk about Judy Blume's outrageously funny "Fudge-a-Mania." The fifth and sixth grade group (students only) will meet Monday evening, January 29 at 6 p.m. to discuss "The Boy Who Owned the School" by Gary Paulsen. Copies of books are available at the desk in the Children's Department. They'll be happy to answer any questions when you stop by, and they welcome your calls at 978-640-4490.

Emblem Club spread Christmas cheer for hospital patients

TEWKSBURY/WILMINGTON - Members of the Tewksbury-Wilmington Emblem Club No. 381 were busy spreading a little cheer into the lives of some very destitute individuals housed at Tewksbury State Hospital. Emblem members spent hours baking various types of desserts in preparation for a Christmas party held for the residents at the Glennis Sheehan Building on the grounds of the State Hospital. They spent many hours making purchases for articles to fill gift bags as well as knitting and crocheting items that were presented to each of the residents. Things that we would normally take for granted and go unnoticed were considered prize possessions to these women. Each bag was filled with some very basic needs. It was a joy to see how elated these women became when handed a gift bag. It was like a kid in a candy store - or Santa Claus at Christmas, they were so excited.

After some conversation, socializing, a matter of getting acquainted, singing of Christmas Carols, the residents were able to enjoy some home cooked pastries, soft drinks and juices. It was an evening well spent and appreciated and Emblem members were able to return home with a sense of good will and a job well done.

Members of the Emblem Club baked goodies, purchased men's tee shirts and shorts, as well as knitted and crocheted items, and joined the Elks in a visitation to the VA Hospital in Bedford. The Emblem Club assisted the Elks in serving cake, soda and ice cream to approximately 40 hospitalized veterans. Exalted Ruler Ernest Dykeman and Santa Claus presented canteen chits to the veterans. The Elks presented a veterans' certificate to one of their own Pearl Harbor survivors, PER Arthur Doucette. Another evening well spent.

Barbara Metcalfe, Kay Maher, Theresa English, Rosalie McGloughlin, Janet Gilhooly, President Rita Fortier, Alice Carroll, Joyce Gigliotti, Jean Ray, Carolyn Parrington, Pat Chandler and Marsha Oxman helped wrap gifts, baked desserts, assisted in serving food and gave Santa a hand in passing out the presents to the children at the Elks Children's Christmas party. It was a treat to see all the young folk there and their reaction to Santa Claus' visit.

In addition to these special projects, the Emblem Club made monetary donations to Shriners Burn Center, Salvation Army, St. Jude's Children, Lowell Center for the Blind, Deaf/Blind Contact Center in Allston, Ronald McDonald House, and to the Tewksbury and Wilmington Food Pantry.

Assisting in and donating to all of the above made the Emblem Club members appreciate their holidays a whole lot more.

THE STUFF OF DREAMS

Many speculate that this life is the dream and that death awakens us to reality. Perhaps no one so eloquently pointed out the transient nature of life as well as Shakespeare in The Tempest: "Our revels are now ended. These our actors, as I foretold you, were all spirits, and are melted into air, into thin air. And, like the baseless fabric of this vision, the cloud-capp'd towers, the gorgeous palaces, the solemn temples, the great globe itself, yea, all which it inherit, shall dissolve, and like this insubstantial pageant faded, leave not a rack behind. We are such stuff as dreams are made on; and our little life is rounded with a sleep."

Ipswich River ideas presented

Massachusetts Water Resource Authority, to reduce withdrawals from within the basin. He also suggested determining methods to reduce overall water consumption throughout the year, such as infiltration systems for businesses and more efficient plumbing systems for residences.

Executive Director of the Ipswich Watershed Association Kerry Mackin indicated that returning treated wastewater to the watershed area would significantly improve conditions in the river.

The Collaborative's recommendations regarding wastewater management was to basically work toward the retention of wastewater and its recharge into groundwater resources, rather than send it out of the basin area for treatment. They suggest limiting sewer expansion and considering local wastewater treatment facilities, in addition to septic system management, to ensure efficient operation.

Their recommendations would require coordinated action between Wilmington, North Reading, the MWRA and the state. A comprehensive study, which would include feasibility, costs, revenues, financing and management, would have to be conducted. The JT Barry site in Wilmington was suggested as a potential location for a facility, but zoning by-laws and other regulations will have to be revised to promote the use of on-site wastewater treatment.

Open space preservation recommendations included protecting the watershed area, reserving land for flood storage and flood retention, preserving the wildlife habitat, upholding town character and several others. Mr. Reardon suggested establishing a subregion non-profit land trust that can facilitate open space purchases and receive donated land.

Mr. Reardon also said that towns should consider adopting the Community Preservation Act to raise money for land, easements and development rights. The act, which must be approved at a Town Meeting by a town-wide ballot referendum, would allow towns to enact a property tax surcharge up to 3%. The funds would be used for open space acquisition, affordable housing and historic preservation.

"What we are proposing is a change in the way towns do business," said Brian K. Barber, Vice President of Planners Collaborative, Inc.

The future viability of the Upper Ipswich River Watershed Subregion depends upon growth management. The Collaborative recommended the promotion of local ordinances in towns. Town regulations are needed for the preservation of natural, water and historic resources. One of their suggestions is for a "village-style" development, which allows a higher density of shops, offices and apartments in a smaller area.

"We feel that the Ipswich River is a great opportunity for a regional approach to binding the four towns together," said Senator Bruce Tarr from Gloucester.

"We need your feedback and recommendations," said Mr. Reardon. "Ideas need to be implemented." Their next meeting will be in April.

Chief Nally takes charge

Prior to his oath, Town Manager Cairra underscored the magnitude and importance of Chief Nally's new role in the community, saying, "I don't think there is a position that exceeds the importance of police chief in a municipality. It is an awesome responsibility."

Cairra expressed pride in the town's privilege to address such an "outstanding gentleman" as Nally as "Chief." He also spoke kindly about another individual who has an equally commendable task in front of her: Texann, Chief Nally's wife of more than forty years.

Describing her as a "lovely lady," Cairra acknowledged that Texann Nally will, too, "assume a role in the community that also has some special pressures on it."

Mrs. Nally had the honor of being the very first person to affix Chief Nally's badge to his uniform moments after his oath had been taken.

Selectmen Chairman Michael Newhouse took to the podium and spoke to Chief Nally on behalf of his fellow members on the board.

"Thank you for the distinguished service that you've already provided to the town," said Chairman Newhouse. "On behalf of the Board of Selectmen, I congratulate you on your promotion. You have big shoes to fill, and we're extremely confident that you're going to do that successfully."

Those big shoes, of course, belong to Chief Bobby N. Stewart, who retired last Friday after 21 years as police chief and more than thirty years with the Wilmington Police Department. During the ceremony, Chief Stewart sat at the head table with Chief Nally, his wife, Newhouse, Scanlon and Cairra. When Cairra handed the podium over to Chief Stewart for a moment, he humorously introduced the retired chief as someone "who has just breathed a sigh of relief."

"I am so pleased with the manager's choice," said Chief Stewart of Nally. "I always had a strong right arm in Bernie. It's an excellent department, and I know that with him it is in good hands."

When Chief Nally offered an acceptance speech from the podium, he did so with humility, humor

Raton; Anthony D. Marek, 45, of Stoneham; Frank V. Messina, Jr., 45, of Stoneham; Joseph C. Mazzola, 34, of Athol; and Robert Flood, 46, of Derry, New Hampshire.

Konaxis and Svendsen is believed to have joined an effort, led by Stephen Mazzola, the owner and operator of both companies, to fraudulently give substance to the tax deductions by submitting false documents. It is alleged that some of the deductions actually represent wages that were paid in cash to various employees of the two companies, and cash removed from the companies by Stephen Mazzola. Other deductions are believed to have stemmed from funds paid by the company to Sebastian Mazzola as so-called consulting fees.

Christina Mazzola Svendsen, along with Stephen and Joseph Mazzola, has also been charged with conspiracy and substantive counts involving an alleged scheme to defraud companies that were providing Worker's Compensation Insurance for Stoneham Towing. Attorney Stern is further alleging that Svendsen and the other two defendants misrepresented the work performed at Stoneham Towing and significantly under-reported the salaries of employees there. The charges allege an effort to evade insurance premiums as a motive for such an action.

The cases surrounding Konaxis and Svendsen and the other defendants spawned from joint investigations conducted by special agents from the IRS and officials from the Massachusetts Insurance Fraud Bureau.

The cases will be prosecuted by Assistant U.S. Attorney Victor A. Wild, of Stern's Economic Crimes Unit, and Corey J. Smith, a senior attorney from the tax division of the Department of Justice.

and emotion.

"Any kind of success that anybody has or achieves is based upon his family," said Chief Nally, holding back tears after acknowledging his loved ones in the audience.

Town Clerk Scanlon found the moment she swore Chief Nally into his new position to be extra special, and with good reason. In the late 1930s, her father, Francis "Nifty" Hoban, served as Deputy Chief of the Wilmington Police Department.

"It is so exciting to think that I was a part of swearing him in," said Scanlon as people mingled and enjoyed refreshments after the official ceremony. "My father never made it to police chief. I'm so happy that Bernie made it. The nice thing about a small town is that we all know each other, so it makes each of our successes more special."

Many loved ones from Chief Nally's family attended the memorable occasion. One of Chief Nally's two sons, Patrick, who is a patrol officer with the Wilmington Police Department, was present. Two of Chief Nally's three daughters, Heather and Deanna, sat close to the front row of seats, as did three of Nally's four grandchildren, Brendan, Brittney and Parker.

Chief Nally's 88-year-old mother, Dorothy Temple, was beaming once the ceremony was finished.

Said Temple, "I'm very, very proud to have a police chief in the family."

Middle school requests additional staffing

her fellow administrators hope can in the Middle School faculty within the next fiscal year.

ONE MORE ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL. Currently, two assistant principals, Mary Ashburn and Jim Tildesley, are responsible for the three houses. A third such position, noted Garfield, would make it possible for each house to have its own assistant principal. Such an arrangement would solidify the organization of all three houses, from the overseeing of the professional development of the teachers to the managing of the building and students and transportation to the focusing on the improvement of MCAS scores.

The assistant principal today has a multi-faceted job," said Garfield. "It is no longer the kind of job as we used to think of it, as being solely about the management of students."

A NEW GUIDANCE COUNSELOR. Currently, two guidance counselors are responsible for 832 students, a population that will continue to grow in coming years. A third guidance counselor, suggested Garfield, would allow more attention to be paid to both at-risk students and those transition to the sixth grade and high school.

FIVE ADDITIONAL CLASSROOM TEACHERS. Garfield stated that such an increase in the teaching faculty would complete the staffing in all three buildings and reduce class sizes. Specifically, Garfield is asking that 30 seventh grade teachers, two eighth grade teachers and one for-sign language teacher be included in the upcoming budget.

ONE ADDITIONAL TEAM LEADER. Currently, ten team leaders work at the Middle School, with two of them sharing half of one of the houses. According to Garfield, one more team leader would balance that equation.

A THIRD SECRETARY. Stating that a third secretary is needed for the third house, Garfield said that "the two secretaries who we have now have a strong, burdensome work load."

A UNIFIED ARTS TEACHER. According to Garfield, a third educator is needed in this department to reduce classroom sizes in the subjects involved. Currently, the class size ratio in the unified arts department is 27 students to one teacher. That ratio could increase to 29 students next year.

A HALL MONITOR. Since the bathrooms in the Middle School are centralized and away from the classrooms, Garfield informed the committee that a hall monitor would improve the level of supervision in the area, help decrease the number of students who congregate and socialize during class time and provide better safety.

TWO SPECIAL EDUCATION TEACHERS. Special Education Director Cleo Fredette joined Garfield at the meeting. He noted to the committee that there are currently 32 Special Education students at the Middle School, with the possibility that such a figure could just to 35 in 2002. The state's regulatory limit per school is 24 students.

Said Fredette, "Minimally, we're asking for one of these teachers to be added. Ultimately, each of our houses should have three of these teachers, one for each grade level."

ONE TECHNICIAN. Town Technician Director Louise Leland, who attended the meeting, informed the board that the Middle School has approximately $800,000 invested in technology. Given that, a troubleshooter is needed on site at the school.

According to Leland, it is the standard of the Department of Education to have one full-time equivalent technician per 200 computers at a school. The addition of one more technician at the Middle School will meet that standard.

ONE LIBRARY AIDE. Currently, two full-time specialists are working at the Middle School Library, one who handles matters pertaining to print and another who addresses situations relating to technology. According to Garfield, the responsibilities of these two specialist are spread thin throughout the school and a new aide would make the daily duties of running a library easier to fulfill.

At the conclusion of her staffing requests, Garfield referred to needs pertaining to the Middle School's supply budget.

"One of the things that I feel we didn't think enough about when we opened the school was the supply budget that goes along with a state-of-the-art school," said Garfield. "Our school has 400-plus computers, 120 printers and so on. Our technology requires funding in itself."

A few School Committee members had questions for Garfield. Susanne Clarkin, for one, wanted to explore the possibility of enlisting an intern rather than hire a third assistant principal.

"At the time that the Middle School was built, I was concerned about the commitment to three assistant principals," noted Clarkin. "I'm still concerned about placing three there when we only have one at the high school. Have you given any consideration at all to an intern position, instead of a full-fledged position of assistant principal?"

"I have," answered Garfield. "My experience with the intern program is that the intern is really going through the learning process. An intern also doesn't have the same supervisory and evaluation abilities as an assistant principal who has been trained by the model that we use in the system."

Naturally, the requested Middle School initiatives are merely a part of the total new initiatives to be proposed in the school department budget.

The Superintendent's Office is still working on completing its recommended Fiscal Year 2002 budget, which it will present to the School Committee in February. Once the School Committee deliberates the recommendations and acts on them, the final product will go before the Finance Committee for a vote at one of its meetings in March.

Tewksbury Golden Age Club discusses membership & scholarships

TEWKSBURY - Happy New Year everyone. Our New Year started with a great New Year's party. Great food, great music and a great committee that has spent many hours throughout the year not only putting this event together but all of the events that we have through the year. A special thank you to all of you who just pitch in whenever needed. Thank you!

Our first meeting of the New

Year was held. The discussion of members was brought up. For those of you who do not have a card dated June 2000 to June 2002, your dues are past due. The dues should be paid by the end of February.

We realize it is difficult to come to the Senior Center, especially in this weather. So just write a check to the Golden Age Club for $8 with a self addressed, stamped envelope and we will mail you your membership card. If you have moved or have changed your phone number, please let us know in order to keep our files up to date.

It's time to think about scholarships again. If you have a grandchild graduating from either Shawsheen Tech or Tewksbury High, going to college and if you are a paid up member of the GAC your grandchild qualifies. Please leave your name and phone number at the Senior Center and I will get back to you with the details.

In order to pay for these scholarships we put on a variety show every other year and this is the year. If you have any talent, if you can sing, dance, tell a joke, act - we need your help. Details at the Senior Center.

Trips: There are two trips on the GAC bulletin board. The trip to the Canyon Country in May still has a few openings. The overnight trip to Foxwood in April is filling up fast. I am limited to 48 people. This will be on a first come, first served basis. Don't be left out.

Our deepest sympathy to the families of Golden Age Club members Stu Coleman and Frank Antonucci. Our sympathies to our member Margaret Musto for the loss of her brother.

Happy birthday and happy anniversary to everyone celebrating this month

Rose McKenna, President
Tewksbury Golden Age Club

Wilmington Senior topics Some seniors may have to pay taxes on social security benefits

WILMINGTON - People who receive Social Security retirement benefits should be aware that they might have to pay taxes on some of their benefits if their total income is above average. "About eight million people pay taxes on their Social Security benefits," said Thomas M. Abbott, Social Security manager in Lowell.

However, only the higher income beneficiaries - about 20 percent of the total number of beneficiaries are included in that number, Abbott noted. Couples whose combined income is between $32,000 and $44,000 and individuals with income between $25,000 and $34,000 may have to pay federal income tax on up to 50 percent of their benefits. Couples whose combined income exceeds $44,000 and individuals whose income is more than $34,000 may have to pay taxes on up to 85 percent of their benefits. For those whose income is below these levels, Social Security benefits are not taxed.

To figure if taxes are owed, income is defined as adjusted gross income as reported on Form 1040, plus one-half of the total Social Security benefits received for the year, plus nontaxable interest.

The taxes are due along with any other taxes that have been paid when filling their federal tax return. Retirees may elect to have their taxes automatically withheld by completing a Form W-4-V. If you should have a question on this topic or any other Social Security information, please contact their office in Lowell, MA at 978-452-5509.

Also, Reading Municipal Light has donated 100 Emergency Beacon Light Bulbs to Wilmington. In normal use, an Emergency Beacon Light bulb works like a regular light bulb. As noted last week, Valentine's Day will be here before we know it. This year's Valentine Dance will be held on Friday, February 16, and will include a buffet at 6 p.m. then followed by music by the Entertainer's Band.

If you are one of these special couples or know of a Tewksbury couple who has celebrated their 50th, please contact Carol Hazel or Linda Brabant with this information by February 9.

People should use caution while shoveling during these snowy winter months especially when the snow has been wet and heavy as it was during the last few snow storms. One should take breaks and should not try to lift too heavy a shovel. If you are a senior citizen and unable to shovel, you may call the Echo Group at Tewksbury Memorial High School. The Echo Group is shoveling for senior citizens. For more information, one may call Lindsey Donnelly of Jennifer Brooks at 851-8374.

Those who are finding it difficult to keep up with the cost of heating fuel may want to call Carol Hazel or Linda Brabant at 640-4480 to see if they qualify for fuel assistance. Both are handling fuel assistance intakes for Tewksbury Senior Citizens. This can be done at the Senior Center and forwarded to Community Teamwork in Lowell.

Have a wonderful week.

WILMINGTON-The annual fund raiser mid-winter dance sponsored by the Wilmington Lions Club, is scheduled for Saturday, February 10, from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Hillview Country Club in North Reading. Ticket price is set at $15 each.

The event, will be held in memory of Joe Cunningham and Arthur Durante and proceeds will benefit MGH Cancer Research Fund and the ALS Foundation.

Arthur Durante was a long time cancer survivor first diagnosed in 1966. Against 95 percent odds, he survived over the years until August 2000. His diagnosis with cancer started not only treatment, but a very lengthy and special relationship with MGH.

Serving as Santa Claus on Christmas Eve at MGH for over 15 years and a board member of the Friends of MGH Cancer Center were just some of his involvements with that establishment. Arthur was also the author of a recently published book "Sunrise Sunset/Arthur Said No to Cancer."

Catherine Jo Cunningham was the second member of her family in two years to succumb to ALS commonly referred to as Lou Gehrig's Disease. This terminal neurological disease starts with the shutting down of the patient's ability to walk, speak, swallow and finally to breathe. Jo, along her husband, Harry, was staunch supporter of the Wilmington Lions Club in its many endeavors. Jo was 64 years of age when she passed away May 8, 2000; 18 months after her diagnosis.

Overtake Triton at home on Tuesday

Lady 'Cats take step forward

By PAUL HAYES
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High girls basketball team took another step towards turning their season around, with a 50-40 win over Triton Regional yesterday at the Larry Cushing Senior gymnasium.

Wilmington took the lead early in the first half and never let it go.

Center Sheri Thresher led all Wilmington players in first half scoring with six points, leading the Wildcats to a nine point lead at halftime, 29-20. Forward Kristin Sauve and Guard Lauren Rappoli each had 5 points for Wilmington in the first half.

The second half opened with a Wilmington run, and the game appeared to be heading for a blow-out. But midway through the second half Triton began to fight back.

Led by a pair of strong forwards, the Vikings boxed out Wilmington players and fed the ball inside. With 9:21 remaining in the game, Triton cut the lead to 37-30.

Over the next three minutes, Triton found scoring in the paint and from the perimeter, and outscored Wilmington 6-3, cutting the lead to 40-36 with 6:20 remaining.

But Rappoli hit a nifty scoop shot on the base-line, going underneath the arms of a Triton defender to extend the Wilmington lead to six. At the three minute mark, junior guard Lyndsey Borseti dribble to the three point arc, and then drove into the lane, laying in the finger roll to give Wilmington a 40 point lead, 46-36.

From that point on, Wilmington traded baskets with Triton to preserve the 10 point victory. The win was Wilmington's second in three games and improves the team's record to 3-9.

Thresher had a team high 12 points, and Rappoli had 11 points.

Coach Bob Gillis said the win was another indication of the team's reversal of fortunes. After falling to 1-8, the girls team defeated Rockport last week, 51-30, and lost a close game against a decent North Andover team on Friday.

"We're starting to play more up-tempo, and make our shots," said Gillis.

The Wilmington High girls started a three guard line-up against the slower Vikings team. According to Gillis, the three guard lineup was intended to force turnovers against Triton.

"Our scouting reports indicated (Triton wasn't) a good ball handling team," said Gillis.

Gillis inserted Borseti alongside starting guards junior Lisa Antonangeli and senior captain Lori Vachon. The quicker Wilmington line-up successfully pressed Triton the entire game, forcing several turnovers.

During one series, at 12:17 in the second half, Borseti stole a Triton in-bounds pass, scored, and then stole the very next Triton in-bounds pass.

Borseti was called up from the JV team last year when the girls team made the state tournament, and has been used as a spot starter this season, sharing starting duties with Antonangeli.

Borseti and other Wilmington players had an easy time handling Triton's soft zone defense, which allowed the Wildcat players to get wide open looks at the basket.

"They kept giving me open shots, they played zone the whole time," said Borseti. "It didn't faze them that we kept hitting outside shots."

Borseti echoed coach Gillis's comments that the team was on the verge of turning the season around. Despite the odds, she hopes the team can make a run and for a return appearance in the state tournament.

"I'm proud of our team," said Borseti. "I think we're more confident, we're getting better."

The girls basketball team will return to action with a game at Manchester High on Friday.

Girls Hockey team hits bump in the road

By PAUL HAYES
Sports Correspondent

The girls hockey team's inaugural season has been full of firsts. Against more experienced players, and established programs, the Wilmington girls recorded their first-ever win against Arlington, 5-2, and fought for a tie against Masconomet Regional, 7-7.

However, not every game has turned out well. And the girls hockey team has achieved an unwelcome first: their first slide.

The Lady 'Cats suffered a pair of losses on Saturday and Sunday against Gloucester, 4-9, and Marblehead, 6-0. According to coach Joe McMahon, the team came out flat in both games.

But McMahon shrugged off the games, and said his team would continue to lay the foundation for girls hockey at Wilmington High School.

"Every team has a bump in the road," said McMahon. "It was probably just a couple of off nights."

According to McMahon, Saturday's loss in Gloucester was not a surprise. A couple of weeks ago, the girls team played Gloucester, and lost by an equally wide margin.

However, McMahon said he expected a better showing in the scrimmage against Marblehead. His pre-game expectations were based on Wilmington's solid performance in a 6-3 loss to Marblehead earlier in the season. But on Sunday, the team started off slow and couldn't recover. McMahon said the team appeared sluggish in the opening two periods, and had only a few scoring opportunities. Once their performance improved in the third period the game was out of reach.

"I want the girls to be more aggressive chasing the puck," said McMahon.

Assistant coach Ken Demaggio will instruct the team on aggressive play - including how to play, and pass, along the boards - during the team's three morning practices this week.

However, he said aggressive players do not guarantee wins. Many of the girls are still learning to play hockey, and some are still learning how to skate.

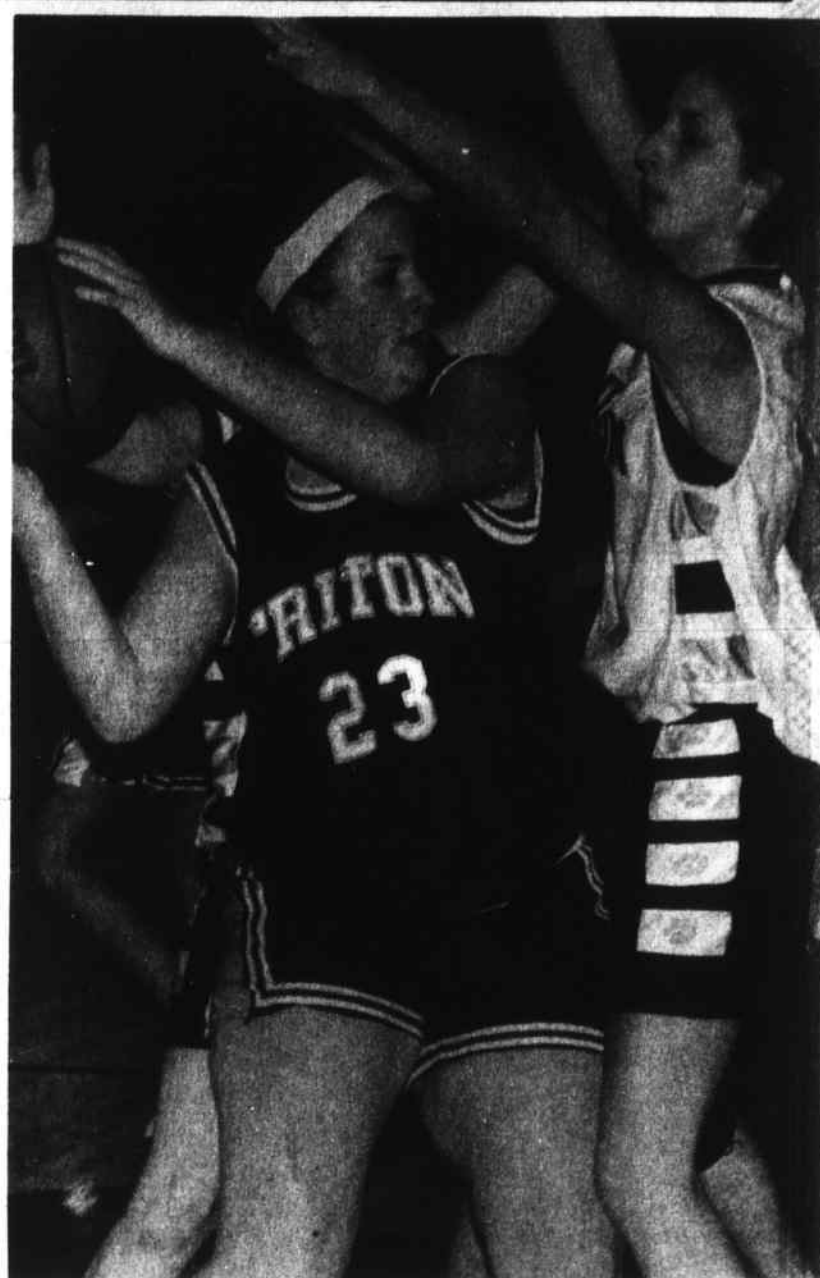

"We don't have a feeder program (for girls hockey)," said McMahon. "The girls need to learn to skate, stop, and skate backwards."

McMahon said it was tough enough for girls to learn how to skate, but said it is even tougher to learn to skate and play hockey at the same time. To teach both skating skills and hockey rules, assistant coach Harry See runs afternoon "hockey classes," in addition to the teams early morning week-day practices.

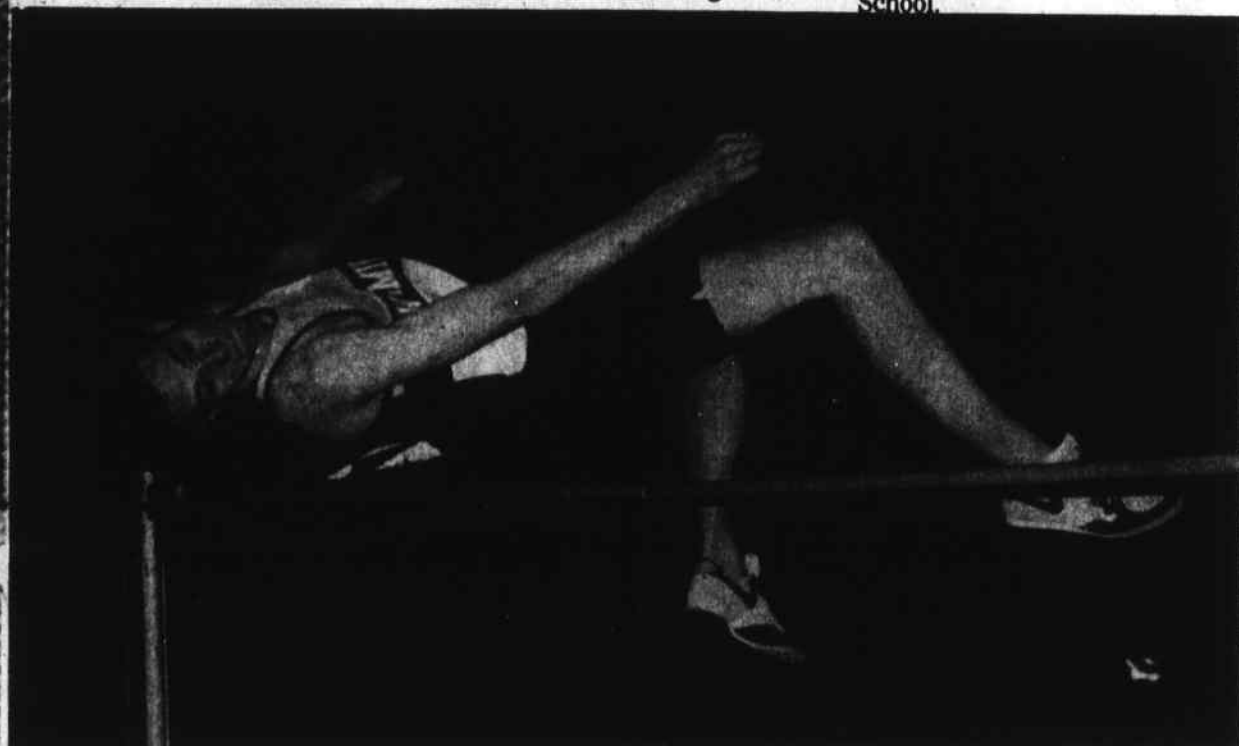

"When you throw a puck into the equation, it's a lot for the girls to grasp in a short time," said McMahon.

McMahon said he is happy with the teams progress, particularly the progress of younger players including grade 8 student Crystal Duarte, who scored her first goal

Track meet goes down to the wire

By PAUL HAYES
Sports Correspondent

After winning and losing a series of blow outs, the Wilmington High boys track team finally found themselves involved in a competitive meet.

Unfortunately they were nosed out in the final event, losing a heart breaker to North Reading, 39-47, on Wednesday, Jan. 10. The loss drops the team's record to 3-2.

Heading into last weeks meet, coach Dana Sweet knew it would be close. He had scouted the North Reading team and calculated that - on paper - the teams were evenly matched.

"I told (the team) on the bus, on the way to the meet, that it would all come down to one or two events," said Sweet.

Heading into the 4x400 relay, Wilmington trailed 39-42 after nine events. The winner of the relay would take home 5 points and the victory. Second place would get nothing.

"That's the killer of the relay," said Sweet. "It's not like second place is worth four points."

Sweet cobbled together, a relay team of runners who were somewhat rested. Freshman Shayne Gaffney had finished second place in the 2 mile less than an hour before, and Chris Calway and Steve Berry had already competed in the 50 yard hurdles and the high jump. Mike Halas had competed in the 300 yard run.

Wilmington was able to keep pace with a talented North Reading relay team, but the Hornets pulled the race out, posting a 1.8 second win with a time of 3:56.4.

Despite the outcome, Sweet was just glad to be involved in an exciting meet. He said it was the first time all year that the team became visibly excited, and added that the meet's thrilling conclusion brought the athletes together as a team, in a way that hasn't happened all season.

"It was the tightest meet of the year, the kind where you get butterflies in your stomach, but that's what makes it fun," said Sweet. "It was nice to have a close meet rather than a blow-out."

Wilmington took first place in five out of ten events. Taking first place were Jason Gustin (2:42, 1,000 yard run), Adam Jensen (5:04, mile), and Andrew Campbell (40' 3.25", shot put). Senior captain Chris Calway captured two firsts in the 50 yard hurdles (6.9) and the high jump (6 feet).

But Sweet said he was more concerned with the second and third place finishes. He appealed to the projected third place runners to push for second, and other runners to push for third.

"I told them everyone should be going all out for third place," said Sweet.

However, Wilmington failed to get second and third place finishes in crucial events including the high jump, mile and 50-yard hurdles. In the 600 yard run Wilmington was only able to grab a third place finish.

"The meet could have swung on one event," said Sweet, adding that Wilmington came close to sweeping the shot put, and just missed getting a third place finish in the 50 yard dash.

The team received solid performances from Jason Gustin (2:42) and John Lee (2:53) in the 1,000 yard run, and senior captain Josh Hiltz, who qualified in the 50 yard dash for next months all-state meet with a time of 5.9 seconds. Calway lowered his all-state qualifying time in the 50 yard hurdles, and his 6-foot high jump is the best in the Cape Ann League.

The team returns to action against Lynnfield High at the Lynn Tech field house on Saturday at 9:30 a.m., and several Wilmington runners will travel to the Reggie Lewis Center in Roxbury to compete in the state coaches relay meet on Sunday at 1:30 p.m.

Shawsheen boys' hoop team looking to get on track

By DAVID FLYNN
Sports Correspondent

Shawsheen boys basketball head coach Roger Bourgeois has sat and watched his team struggle to a 3-8 record this season. Despite the losing record, Bourgeois knows the 2000-01 Rams are a winning team.

"We are working very hard to do the best we can," said Bourgeois. "The record is the record. We are focused on improving. And we are improving."

The Rams had a good week against North Shore and Minuteman. Shawsheen defeated North Shore on the road, 74-56, and lost to a tough Minuteman team, 63-46.

North Shore proved to be a breakout game for two Shawsheen players. Junior forward/guard Mark Stewart (Wilmington) and senior guard Dave Fancy (Tewksbury) had the hot shot going for them all game. Stewart finished with a game high 31 points while Fancy chipped in with 15.

"He put a lot of extra practice in this week and it paid off for him," said Bourgeois of Stewart. "That night, (Stewart) could not miss. He was just so nice to watch."

Stewart hit seven three-pointers which gave the Rams its first offensive presence from the outside all season. Bourgeois said, Stewart and Fancy had struggled on shots from the outside until the North Shore game.

"That has really been our one weakness," said Bourgeois. "That has been the one game we were really strong shooting from the outside."

In the first half, Shawsheen jumped out to a nine point lead.

North Shore kept it close but could not gain any momentum and the Rams took a formidable, 40-26 lead into the half.

In the second, Shawsheen picked up where it left off and continued to keep North Shore at Bay. Senior forward Jim Dickinson was a force on the boards grabbing 14 rebounds to help the Rams' cause.

Although Stewart and Fancy scored the bulk of the baskets, many Rams saw action and played important roles in the victory.

Junior guard Jason Banusiewicz (Tewksbury) scored nine points off the bench with three three-pointers. Senior forward Matt Coppi (Tewksbury) grabbed seven rebounds and junior center Doug Ronan (Billerica) played well offensively and defensively, scoring six points to go along with eight boards.

Ronan's play really pleased Bourgeois.

Bourgeois said, "He is starting to develop and getting more playing time. He is starting to get ready for next year."

The Rams led North Shore by as many as twelve in the second half. However, it was not until the final minutes that the Rams and Bourgeois truly believed they had the game in hand.

"It wasn't really over until the final couple of minutes," said Bourgeois. "It was a good game to watch. There was a lot of scoring."

Minuteman is known to be one of the more skilled teams the Rams play against. However, this fact did not affect the play of the Rams.

The Rams brought its "A" game against Minuteman and kept themselves within striking distance until the final two minutes of play.

With 2:00 remaining in the game, and the Rams down by five, one of Minuteman's players went on a tear and scored four three pointers in two minutes to break the game wide open. The Rams went on to lose 63-46, but, in many ways, it was a victory.

"We stayed with them a lot longer than anybody thought we would," said Bourgeois. "(Minuteman) just went on to hit four in a row and we did not answer on the other end. It was a nice game."

In the first half, the Rams played even with Minuteman and trailed by one, 19-18, at the break. The Rams did a nice job of playing man to man and avoiding mistakes against Minuteman's zone pressure defense.

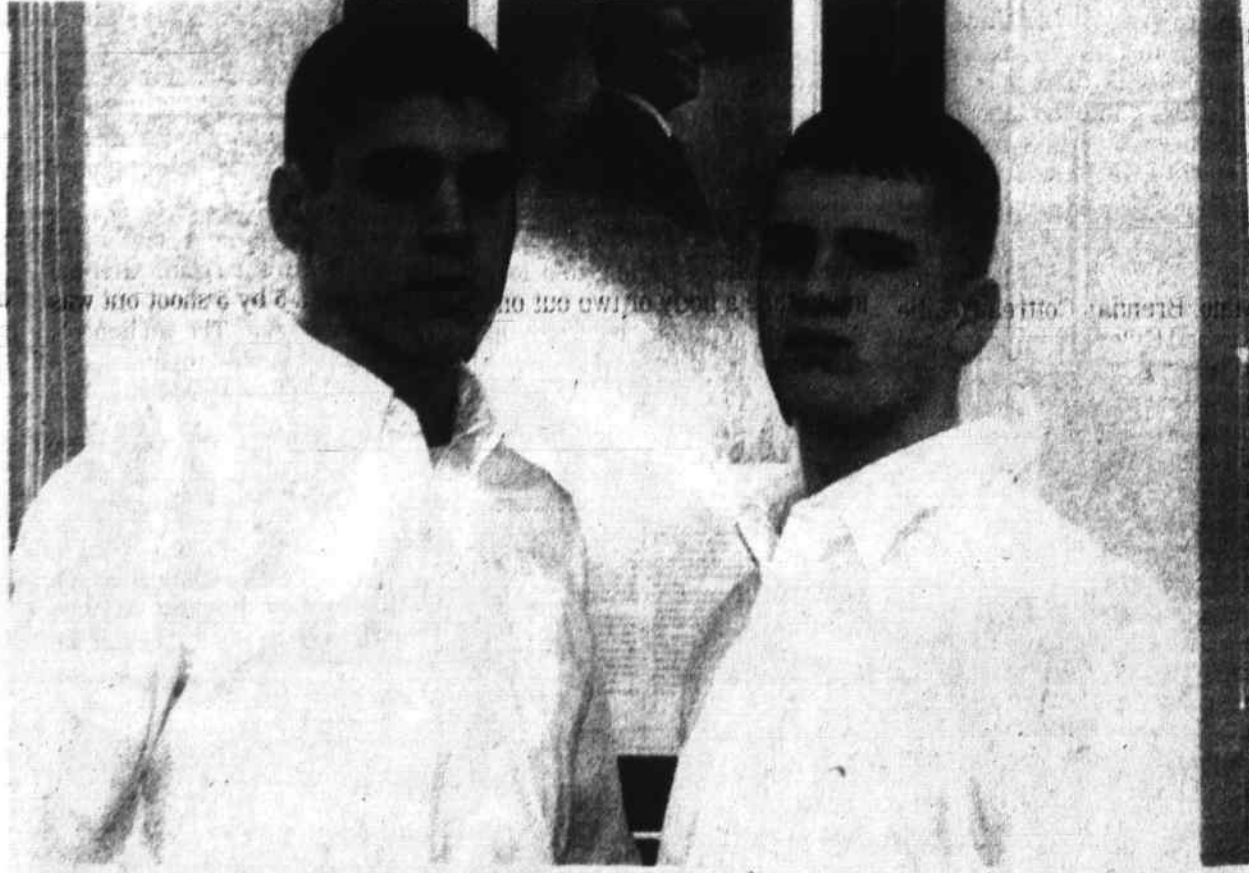

During the second half, the Rams had a tougher time as Minuteman switched to a one-three-one. Still, the Rams were in the game until the final few minutes of play.

"On paper it should have been over a half," said Bourgeois. "That shows you how hard these kids work. I have to give them a lot of credit."

Stewart continued to play well and helped keep Shawsheen close as he scored 11 points in the losing effort. Senior forward/center Chris Kerr Tewksbury also played well and scored 12 points. Senior forward guard Derek McLaren scored nine points.

The Rams came up short against Minuteman but Bourgeois was still pleased with his team's effort. Bourgeois said, "Even though it was a loss, I could see improvement."

The Rams will travel to North-east on Friday, January 19. Earlier in the year the Rams defeated Northeast at home and they are looking forward to sweeping the series. Tip off is at 4:45.

Austin Prep round-up

By TIM LANE

Wilmington residents and Austin Prep football players Jim McGonagle and Dan Fonzi have been named League All Stars for the Massachusetts Catholic Central League.

Jim McGonagle is a senior at Austin Prep and co-captain of the Cougars' varsity squad. Jim plays defensive end. In addition to being named League All Star, Jim has been named Austin's team MVP for the 2000 season. Surprisingly, McGonagle has only been playing football for three years.

Never having been on a team before, he and fellow co-captain and fellow All Star Jeff Ricker (Georgetown) went out for the squad in their sophomore year. There's been no looking back since for either of them.

Jim expressed the strongest enthusiasm for his football experience at Austin. "It taught me how to be a man," he said. "It taught me how to do everything as hard as I can, to the best of my ability."

Dan Fonzi is also a senior at Austin. Like McGonagle, he has been playing for the Cougars since his sophomore year. Dan plays running back and defensive back. He was named Austin's "most improved player" for the 2000 season. Dan echoed McGonagle's sentiments about his football experience, especially as a key element of his personal growth. "Austin Prep Football has shaped me from boyhood to manhood," he said. "The physical conditioning has been unbelievable. I'm in the best shape of my life."

In addition to McGonagle and Fonzi, three other Austin players made League All Star. They were Jeff Ricker (Georgetown), a senior co-captain at defensive tackle; Anthony Castellano (Georgetown), a junior fullback/linebacker; and Rob O'Brien (Saugus), a junior offensive guard.

Girls' basketball
Austin Prep Girls' Basketball had an impressive week with two big victories. They defeated Lowell Catholic 71-24. Senior co-captain Bridget Monagle scored nine points as did sophomore Kelly Ricker.

The Cougar Girls then went on to a 37-30 victory over St. Clement's. Eighth grade guard Jenna DeVito was the star of the game for Austin, with an impressive 14 points of offense. These two strong performances bring Austin's record to 4-4 on the year.

Boys' basketball
The Austin Boys overpowered Lowell Catholic this week, 74-44, bringing the Cougars' record to 5-3 on the season. High scorers for Austin were senior captain Stephen Acampa 14, sophomore Mike Bouvier 13, sophomore captain Chad Gaudet 11, and junior Jeff Flores 10.

Girls' hockey
Girls hockey had a tough loss against Martha's Vineyard, 7-5, bringing their record to 6-4-1. Austin goals were scored by eighth grader Kate Connelly, sophomore Kim MacElhaney, junior Shana McMahon, freshman Katie Powers and freshman Ashley Saunders.

Boys' hockey
Boys' hockey had a mixed week, with a tie, a loss, and a win. Senior captain C.J. Hanafin scored two goals with a third by Junior Chris Capraro in a hard fought 3-3 tie against Arlington Catholic.

Austin then suffered a 5-2 loss to Matignon, but finished the week in true Cougars' style with an overpowering 9-1 victory over Framingham. C.J. Hanafin scored three times for Austin, with Capraro scoring two goals and four assists in the impressive win.

Winter track
Austin track lost a close meet to Marian this past week, but put in strong performances in several events. The boys' 4x400 relay team won its event with a great race run by sophomore John Ring, freshman John Cuoco (Wilmington), sophomore Chris Angiolillo (North Reading) and senior captain Will Kent (Wilmington). Senior John Eaton (Wilmington) took a first in the high jump. Will Kent put another event in the win column for Austin with his performance in the 600 meters and senior captain Matt Pimentel won the mile.

Skiing
Two of Austin's skiers put in very strong performances in the race at Bradford Hill Ski Area this past week. Senior Patrick Curran of Georgetown finished first in the race, with the best time overall out of a field of 120 competitors from across the North Shore Ski League. Senior Tom Sheehan took the third place finish overall. The Austin Ski Team split the recent meet with a win over Bishop Fenwick and a loss to North Andover.

Turnovers cost Redgals

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

While the Tewksbury Boys' Basketball team was having its share of problems with Central Catholic at home on Tuesday night, the TMHS Girls' team didn't fare much better when they traveled to Lawrence to take on the Raiders. The girls really struggled hanging onto the ball leading to countless number of turnovers, and a whopping 72-33 win for Central.

Tewksbury falls to 4-5 on the season with the loss.

"We can't afford to turn the ball over as many times as we did tonight and beat one of the best teams in the state," said coach Pat McAndrews. "We were down by 22 points at halftime and hit just four field goals in the first half. You can't do that against any team."

McAndrews says that he constantly stresses how important it is to hang onto the ball each and every possession. But of the team's five losses, most of the fault lies on the turnovers.

"It's very difficult," said McAndrews. "I don't know what the words are. I'm very upset, discouraged and unhappy. The girls don't see to understand how important each possession is. This is my fourth year with the program and this is not a good thing. We hope to make it to the tournament and I would think that every girl on the team would like to make it. But I don't want to go in at 10-10 and face the number one seed."

Central Catholic is a very good team and the chances of Tewksbury beating them weren't in their favor. But according to McAndrews the team has to play much better against those teams whom they can realistically beat. For instance Friday's match-up against Dracut (4-5).

"I can't stress how much of a big game that is for us," said McAndrews. "Going to their place on a Friday night and playing the best team in the small school conference is huge. This is a gigantic game for us. I think we'll be alright on Friday - I think we'll be much more competitive."

Speaking of competitive, McAndrews was thrilled with the way two players played on Tuesday night off the bench. He said both Lauren Welch and Lindsay Orpen played very hard, showed a lot of heart and should be commended for their strong efforts.

"They worked extremely hard and they really competed. I was really happy to see that," he said.

After traveling to Dracut on Friday night, Tewksbury will continue the long bus rides. On Sunday afternoon, they will play the make-up game of the Stoneham Christmas Tournament at 2:45 against Malden. Tewksbury is looking to defend the tournament championship as it beat Bedford in the finals last year on a buzzer beater. Two days later, Tewksbury will travel to Chelmsford (2-5), as they look to put a scare into the Lions.

Tewksbury's Pee Wee B's continue impressive play

The Tewksbury PeeWee B team sponsored by Jim Boudreau Automotive located at 2184 Main Street have been working hard and thrilling the crowds with their play lately.

The PeeWee B's faced Groton in December in a strong defensive battle that saw Tewksbury come out on top 4-2. Defensemen Joe DeMaio, Brendan Coutreau, Katie Stokes and Kyle Stevenson worked hard to keep the B's in the game after ending the first period down 1-0. Coutreau backchecked, DeMaio moved the puck up the ice, Stokes protected Tewksbury goalie CJ Walsh and Kyle Stevenson poke checked and dug in the corners to set up the plays.

Tewksbury's first goal came on a lightning shot from the point by Brendan Coutreau, who was set up nicely by Chris Freeman. Peter Stanieich then scuffled in the corner to dig out the puck, passed to Tim Dooley who set up a patient Patrick Devito waiting in front of the net to score the B's third goal. Groton picked up the pace in the 3rd period and put one in net to bring the score 3-2. Chris Freeman then scored from center ice on an open net, assisted by Christian Murray to finalize the win 4-2.

A disappointing loss to Andover preceded an exciting Tournament Trip to Northboro. Tewksbury first faced a well-matched Tri-Valley team, but came up short 4-3.

In the second game of the tournament Tewksbury faced Mid-State. The action was fast and furious from the get go. Mid-State was looking for blood and the B's were not willing to give any away. CJ Walsh played his most impressive game yet, sacrificing his body to make saves, turning away head-on breakaways and always being in the right spot. The game score was 0-0 until the middle of the second period when Mid-State snuck one in.

The Tewksbury offensive corps of Peter Stanieich, Christian Murray, Anthony Moccia, Chris Freeman, Tim Dooley, Patrick Devito, Leo Keefe, Jeremy Booth and Matt Danecki played their hearts out, while trying to keep their body's safe from the onslaught of inappropriate hits. Defensemen Joe DeMaio, Kyle Stevenson, Katie Stokes and Brendan Coutreau worked extremely hard and took their licks as well.

It was late in the third period and Tewksbury look as if they may go limping home with a loss, when Chris Freeman and Patrick Devito took full advantage of a Mid-State defenseman tripping over his own skate at center ice. Chris and Patrick broke away from the crowd and hustled the puck into the zone. Chris and Patrick were able to capitalize and put Tewksbury on the scoreboard, tying the score 1-1.

With 51 seconds remaining Peter Stanieich, Christian Murray and Anthony Moccia put the pressure on Mid-State's goalie, who turned away their first attempt, but in the melee that ensued the goalie lost track of the puck and Peter was able to flip in a backhand, assisted by Christian Murray. Mid-State was seething and looking to take a body or two out on a stretcher, but their "beat 'em up" strategy was coming loose. With the goalie pulled and a one "very large" man advantage, Mid-State put the pressure on in the Tewksbury zone. CJ Walsh put on an awesome display of goaltending and turned the opponents down cold. With only 15 seconds left Patrick Devito found himself with the puck at center ice. As two burly Mid-State defensemen trailing him, Patrick skated all the way to the opponent's net and softly slid the puck in for the final goal and the outstanding win 3-1. When interviewed after the game, Mr. Devito was asked why he waited so long to put the puck in the net. His apt reply was, "I wanted to stretch out the pain." The remainder of the Tournament was snowed out but in the audience's mind, the best game had already been played.

The highlight, or shall we say the low-light, of a recent loss to Methuen came when Methuen found it necessary to squeeze 5 players into their penalty box for their outrageous behavior.

Tewksbury faced Northern Middlesex in the first round of playdowns this past Friday. Things looked pretty bleak when the opponents scored within the first 16 seconds of the game. After that, the B's got in the groove and played hard. Brendan Coutreau took a pass from Patrick Devito and fired it past the N. Middlesex goalie showing nothing but net to tie the score 1-1. In the second period Chris Freeman, Leo Keefe and Patrick Devito worked the puck in the opponent's zone. Leo and Patrick wrapped the puck around the net then Chris Freeman shot the rebound in to bring Tewksbury ahead 2-1. N. Middlesex next took advantage of some Tewksbury penalty situations to tie it up and then pull ahead late in second period. Patrick Devito popped in a backhand assisted by Chris Freeman when N. Middlesex had a few men of their own in the box.

Within 60 seconds of Patrick's tying goal, Tim Dooley scored unassisted on a "seeing-eye" goal from a thick crowd in front of the net to bring Tewksbury up by one. The pace picked up in the third; CJ Walsh stretched himself from one post to another to deny the opponents attempts. Tim Dooley worked the man advantage on another N. Middlesex penalty and shot his second unassisted goal in from the point.

Defensemen Katie Stokes, Brendan Coutreau and Joe DeMaio worked the lines and put up a strong defense. At the end of three it was all tied up 5-5. A five minute 4th period ensued with heavy hitting and lots of back and forth action on the ice. CJ Walsh made the save of the game, snatching a shot out of mid-air to prevent a goal. After the 4th period, a 5 by 5 shoot out was then necessary. The audience's hearts were pounding as one skater after another took their shots. Leo Keefe scored on the first round to bring Tewksbury ahead. N. Middlesex made their best attempts, but 4 failed. It all came down to Patrick Devito.

With the cool confidence of a well-seasoned hockey player, Patrick took the puck at center ice and swiftly skated toward the goalie. Pat faked right, then lifted a shot over the sprawled goalie to seal the victory 7-5.

In the next round of Playdowns, Tewksbury faced Stoneham. Peter Stanieich skated hard and scored the first goal unassisted at 1:23 in the first period. The defensive corps of Katie Stokes, Joe DeMaio, Kyle Stevenson and Brendan Coutreau kept the pressure on to keep Stoneham from scoring. The second period saw goalie CJ Walsh cleaning up the garbage to prevent any Stoneham goals.

Kyle Stevenson made his own diving saves to help CJ out. But the puck stayed in Tewksbury's zone too long and Stoneham took advantage and tied up the score. By the end of the 2nd Stoneham was up 2-1. Anthony Moccia, Christian Murray and Peter Stanieich stepped up to provide excellent penalty killing in the third. Jeremy Booth, Matt Danecki and Tim Dooley hit hard and skated harder to work the puck into the opponents zone.

Stoneham's goalie proved to be "on his game" as he turned away all attempts. With under a minute left Tewksbury pulled their goalie, but was burned as Stoneham scored on the open net to take the win.

Sixth graders improve to 15-2 on the season

The Wilmington sixth grade basketball team won three games last week extending their record to 15-2 on the season.

Last Sunday the boys traveled to Dracut to face the Middies. Wilmington took control early. The Wildcats went to a box and one defense early and Greg Stewart did an outstanding job shutting down Dracut's big gun, holding him scoreless in the first half.

Tim Kent had the hot hand throwing in 11 of his game high 15 in the first half. Kyle Borseti continued his excellent play adding eight points. Nick Duggan and Pat Ryan controlled the glass and Dan Patterson and Josh Mayo applied the pressure defense as Wilmington took a 29-14 halftime lead.

Rich Barry and Mike Thomas controlled the play in the second half. Brendan DeMango threw in a three pointer as the Wildcats coasted to a 44-33 victory.

Thursday night the Wildcats once again were on the road, this time in Methuen. Wilmington took it to the Rangers from the opening tap. Kyle Borseti led the offensive charge with nine first half points.

Nick Duggan was awesome in the low post hitting for eight points of his own while dishing off to his guards for a whole host of assists. Dan Patterson and Brendan DeMango, as they have been all year, were outstanding on the defensive board. Pat Ryan hit four big free throws and Rich Barry added five more points as Wilmington had a 26-8 halftime lead.

Mike Thomas ripped down some big rebounds early in the second half. Greg Stewart and Josh Mayo controlled play for the balance of the game as the Wildcats cruised to a 50-26 win.

On Saturday, the boys hosted Salem, N.H. This looked to be a very tough game as Salem had a seven game winning streak coming into this one. The strategy was the same as always, control the tempo of the game and apply intense pressure defense.

It was clear from the get-go that Wilmington came to play. Four consecutive steals led to baskets by Pat Ryan (11 points) and Tim Kent (eight points). Greg Stewart hit a huge three pointer as the Wildcats jumped out to a 13-2 lead. Wilmington didn't let up as Josh Mayo threw in seven of his 10 points in the first half. Wilmington exploded for a 37-11 halftime lead.

Nick Duggan (six points) and Kyle Borseti (nine points) took control of the second half. Dan Patterson was awesome on the boards and added a big hoop in the second half. Mike Thomas played incredible defense while throwing a big basket.

Brendan DeMango once again controlled the defensive boards and hit for two points as well. Wilmington went on to post a big victory 63-33.

'Cats take care of business against sub-par teams

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It was a week to take care of business, and the Wilmington High ice hockey team did just that. On Wednesday night, the 'Cats defeated Rockport, 8-0, and then they came back home on Saturday to hand Hamilton-Wenham an 9-0 schellacking to improve to 7-1-1 on the season.

For the 'Cats, playing these two cellar teams couldn't have come at a better time. Steve Scanlon's team has several injuries and with games coming up against North Reading and Masconomet, taking it easy now should hopefully pay dividends later.

"We took care of business and it was nice to see everyone contribute," said Scanlon after the win over H-W. "We've been hit with the injury bug and we know the competition will be a lot better this upcoming week so hopefully we'll get some players back."

Junior goaltender Joe Luciano fell on ice and his kneecap came out of socket as his injury is the biggest concern right now. Scanlon said that Luciano felt much better on Saturday but it was unsure when Luciano would make it back.

Senior defenseman Mike Comer, who suffered a knee injury in the team's first few games, will probably be out for a few more weeks as he is in a cast. Junior winger Kyle Burns went for an MRI on Saturday after he suffered a knee injury in practice last week. It was unknown about his status.

But, with those players on the shelf, Wilmington did get one back in Dan Liberty, who was out with the flu, while back-up goalie Paul Sferrezza registered two shutouts in his first two varsity starts.

"Paul has handled himself really good. He has gone seven straight periods without allowing a goal," said Scanlon, eluding to the sophomore playing the third period in the previous game against Pentucket.

Sferrezza was able to breathe a sigh of relief in both stars because his teammates dominated play in both games. Against a chippy and dirty Rockport team, Geoff Ferreira netted a hat trick, while David Hanley and Mike Montalto added two goals each. Anthony Tomas scored the other goal. Brian Velardo, Mike Whitney, Matt Porter and Jack Webb all contributed with a pair of assists. Sferrezza made six saves for the shutout.

On Saturday afternoon, Wilmington outshot H-W, 29-5 after the first two periods, until Scanlon told his troops not to shoot the rest of the way in the third stanza. This was a game of a lot of firsts for the 'Cats.

Junior defenseman Brent Holloway scored his first two goals of his career with a tally in each of the first two periods. Senior Jason Loring scored his first varsity goal ever. Coach Scanlon was very happy for the third line winger after the game saying, "He makes so many sacrifices for this team. It was great to see him score one."

Ferreira netted two goals, while, Montalto, Liberty, Porter and Tomas scored the other goals. Senior defenseman Scott Buck had a big offensive day with three helpers, while, Webb, Liberty and Ferreira each had two assists. Sferrezza made 7 saves for his second shutout.

Through 9 games thus far Wilmington has four players in double figures in scoring. Ferreira leads the team with 12 points (10 goals and 4 assists) followed by Whitey with 11 (2-9) and Liberty (7-3), Montalto (5-5) and Velardo (0-10) with 10 points each. Luciano has done very well with an 1.65 goals against average and a 92.4 save percentage rate. Sferrezza has stopped all 19 of his shots over a 105 minute span.

Wilmington will travel to Merrimack College on Saturday to face a much improved North Reading squad with face-off at 6:00 pm. Two days later they will host their biggest rivals Masconomet, who have just one loss on the season, at 2:30 at Ristuccia Exposition Center.

Wilmington is 7-1-1 and need just five more points to qualify for the state tournament for the seventh consecutive season.

'Cats qualify for the states with buzzer beater

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Thanks to a three-pointer at the top of the key with four seconds to go and trailing by a point, Valence Nwachukwu and the rest of the Wilmington High boys' basketball team will be making a trip to the state tournament once again.

The Wildcats are off to their best start in over a dozen years when they handed Triton a very exciting, 67-65, defeat at Triton Regional High on Tuesday night. The Wildcats are now 10-2 on the season.

"You usually have a few games like this that come down to the buzzer and we were very lucky to come out of their with a win," said head coach Jim McCune. "We got outworked tonight. This was a game with very little defense. We had a horrible practice [on Monday] and it showed [on Tuesday]. Triton was very quick tonight and that bothered us."

McCune said that his top two players Eric Swiezynski and Nwachukwu played extremely well. "They both played great, they really did," commended the coach. "Eric had 25 points and 9 rebounds and Valence had 22 points and 6 assists. We would have been in trouble if they didn't play as well as they did."

Wilmington is coming off a very good week with three victories since their loss last Monday night to Hamilton-Wenham. Wilmington blew away Rockport last Wednesday night, and then fought off a tough North Andover team on Friday. Wilmington escaped with an 63-50 win, but that was because of their tremendous free throw shooting.

"The story of that game was we hit 21-of-25 free throws including 13-for-14 in the second half and they made 3-of-8 free throws. That was the difference. That was a good, solid win for us."

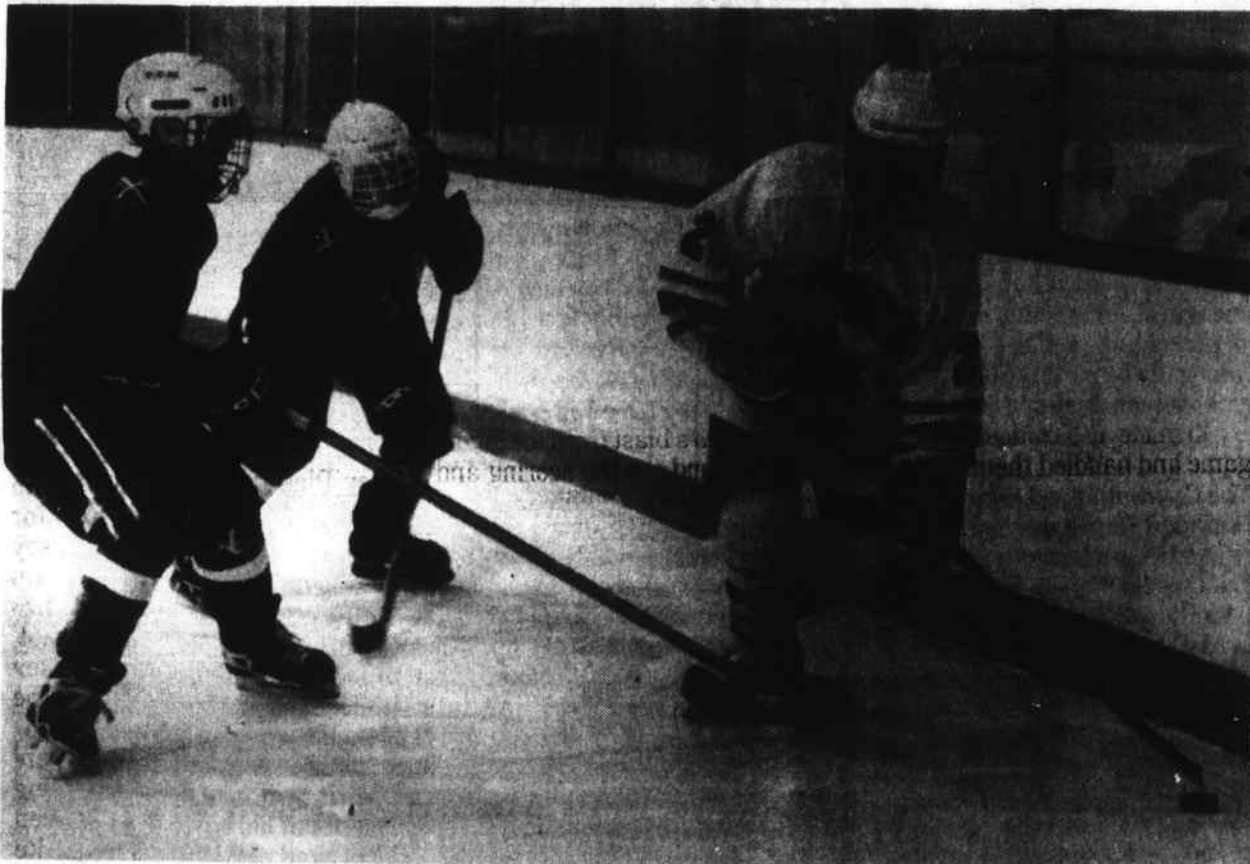

In the win against the Scarlet Knights, Swiezynski led the way with 25 points, followed by Nwachukwu with 13 and Mike Jordan with a dozen. Tim Riley, Josh Howlett and Craig Osgood rounded out the scoring as they combined for 13 points.

Wilmington has a relatively easy week upcoming. They have just one game and that's this Friday night at Manchester, a team they should overmatch. That game will follow with a big re-match against Hamilton-Wenham on January 26th at Hamilton-Wenham beginning at 7:45 pm. Wilmington lost to the Generals at home by five points two weeks ago. That game featured Scott Buttersworth of H-W who gave Wilmington all kinds of problems when the 'Cats had the ball. However, Buttersworth broke his hand last week in a game and will not play.

Wilmington will round out its six game road trip with stops to Pentucket, North Andover and Andover.

"We'll just try to get as many wins as we can to get the highest seed we can in the tournament," said McCune. "We'd love to have a home game or two in the tournament especially since we are 7-1 this year at home. We have to keep plugging away at it."

Girls Track team beats Hornets

It was an extremely happy ride home for the Wilmington High School girls' track team last Wednesday. It had been a very long time since the girls have beaten North Reading. Last week they did just that at a Cape Ann League meet held at Andover High by beating the Hornets, 45-41.

The girls took five first place finishes out of ten events. It was their second and third place finishes that put the team in the winners circle.

In the 50-yard hurdles, Lisa Hurley came in second and Carissa Newhouse took third to start the team off in the right direction. The 50-yard dash followed had Ashley Veator second and Michele Lemos third, adding to the team's score. The two mile race became a very important one. Kerri Moynihan and Emily Dorrance took second and third, respectively, as the two runners have continued to improve their time.

Michaela Rufo was moved to the 300 and she finished at an impressive time of 42.4. She and Stefany Quinton took second and third, running against the fastest girls in the league. Quinton also took first in the shot put with a throw of 29-1. Heather See, who is running all around the sports world as a member of the girl's hockey team and the girl's track team, has been very consistent this indoor track team in points. Against NR, she placed third in the shot put.

Rufo added another five points by taking the high jump title clearing 4-8. Kim Gillespie dominated the 600 again with a time of 1:36. Melissa Marques got a big third place finish the team needed in the 600. Becky Rufo moved up to the 1,000 in this race and she did very well, qualifying for the state meet at 3:04 which was also for first place. She also took a third in the high jump.

Mary Sullivan's last kick in the last 100 yards of her race proved vital as she took third place, while, Michelle Brush took a first in the mile with a blazing time of 5:52. The relay team of Heather Doherty, Michaela Rufo, Gillespie and Becky Rufo finally got a chance to run together. They didn't win but their time was 4:37.

Three locals take a Gold in Lake Placid

Kerry Boyle, Katherine Holland and Andrea Tuttle, all of Wilmington are members of the Nor'easters, a nationally ranked Intermediate synchronized skating team that recently traveled to Lake Placid to compete in the Lake Placid Synchronized Skating Classic. They returned home with a gold medal, having placed first in their competition.

Coach Doreen Trunzio arranged a beautifully choreographed ghost theme.

The music medley included old favorites such as Stairway to Heaven, Beetlejuice and Spirit in the Sky. In December, they competed in the Cape Cod Classic in Bourne, placing third in their division. Wish them luck as they will travel to Buffalo, N.Y. January 24 to compete in the 2001 Eastern Sectionals. They are hoping to earn a medal in order to move on to the Nationals scheduled to be held in Colorado Springs in March.

Sixth grade girls use Haverhill as bait

The Wildcat Girls' 6th Grade Basketball team picked up two more wins this past week with games against Haverhill and Gloucester.

The team's record stands at 4-1 in River Valley League competition. Game one was on Thursday night in Haverhill. The Cats were led defensively by forward Ashley Bruno who was a force on the boards throughout the game allowing Wilmington to retain possession of the ball.

Haverhill's press wasn't working for them with point guards Stephanie Sauve (5 points) and Dana Nolan (4 points) dribbling right through time and again. Kerri Stinson alternated between the center and power forward position and worked hard on defense, keeping the Haverhill scoring down to a minimum.

Leading the first half scoring for the Wildcats was Katie Sullivan who racked up 6 of her 8 game points in the early minutes. The offense exploded in the second half when tough defense by Christine Marques and Christina Iaquinio led to many turnovers by Haverhill.

Taryn Martiniello at guard also got into the defensive action frustrating Haverhill by tying up the ball over and over.

This game's high scorer was center Ashley Vitale who fired in 8 of her 10 game points in the second half, shooting 100% at the free throw line. Forward Jessica Harrington (1 point) was a defensive standout setting several nice picks for the Cats.

In the closing minutes, Kim Silvia who played a great game at forward hit a nice jumper for the team's final bucket and the game ended in favor of Wilmington 30-12.

In the wee hours of Saturday morning, the Wildcats and their families made the long trip to Gloucester. The early hour didn't bother the Cats and they overtook a weak Gloucester team from the opening tip.

Teamwork and hustle allowed the entire Wildcat team to get on the score board during this game. Forward Ashley Bruno started things off when she sunk a beautiful shot into the net. Point guards Dana Nolan (6 points) and Stephanie Sauve (4 points) hit their teammates with many fine passes earning themselves multiple assists during the game.

Katie Sullivan continued her first-half scoring frenzy of the day before and hit 4 nice early shots for her 8 game points. Jessica Harrington was the number one scorer of this game with her tally reaching 10 by the final buzzer. Kim Silvia also came alive offensively for the Cats and scored a season high 6 points.

The Gloucester team was clearly overmatched by the Wildcats and were unable to getting anything going with guards Christine Marques (2 points) and Taryn Martiniello (1 point) all over them defensively.

Christina Iaquinio grabbed rebound after rebound creating her own breakaways and converting for a nice bucket late in the half. Kerri Stinson (1 point) and Ashley Vitale (4 points) were untouchable at center ruling the boards, and the game ended in favor of the Wildcats 46-6.

The team's record stands at 4-1 with games vs. Beverly, Danvers and Melrose to be played this week.

Mite C's get refueled against Triton

After last weekend's games the Mite Cs seemed to have a squeaky wheel in need of oil. They faced Triton on Saturday with no squeaks. Once again the Mite Cs were well oiled.

When the line of Patrick Boudreau, Melissa Good and Nick Masiello hit the ice, they moved right into the fast lane. When Nick wound up he didn't stop. He broke up the Triton rush and set up Melissa who wasted no time in finding the back of the net.

Minutes later Nick was back at it breaking up the Triton defense. Melissa picked up the loose puck and laid a beautiful pass onto Patrick's stick. With a setup like that Pat never misses.

Going into the second period Triton was down 2-0. They went on an all out offensive. Wilmington's goalie Jimmy Stokes came up big when he needed to. Jimmy made a great stick save that he steered to the corner to Brian Hurley. Brian took the puck behind the net and made a nice pass right on the stick of Tommy Cushing. Tommy moved the puck to center ice and looked to make a pass. He found Patrick Young cutting to the net. Pat got the shot off. The Triton goalie made the save, but couldn't corral the rebounds.

Craig Benard moved in for mop up duty and the score. Early in the third this trio teamed up again. That resulted in a pretty goal for Patrick.

Back to late in the second, Kyle Gaffey made a beautiful breakup on a Triton three on two. Kyle gathered in the puck and quickly sent defenseman Tommy Callahan on the attack. Tommy put it into overdrive, going into the net hard. The Triton goalie came out to break up the play and Tommy went crashing into the boards. Man, what action!!

The third period was great. The C's showed no sign of letting up. They played excellent two way hockey. The defensemen starting the plays, passing up to the wings. The wings head manning the puck. They're learning their lessons well.

The last goal was text book. Jimmy Mullen pitched in and stopped the puck. He dumped it into the corner to Tommy Quity, who tried to pass out front but couldn't. So Tommy passed out to Brian Fitzpatrick on the point. Brian passed into the other corner to Matt Kasparian who one timed a pass to centerman Cody Wilkins and with a flick of the wrist, the puck was in the top corner, short side. Five guys touched that puck. Really nice!

In the post game press conference the beat writer from the Town Crier asked Coach Cushing if he thought the kids hit a wall last week. The coach said yes, but they climbed over it today.

Squirt B's take two in District Playdowns

Wilmington 9, Wakefield 1

The Wilmington Squirt B's took on the Wakefield Squirt B's and displayed their true colors as they passed the puck all over the ice walking away with a convincing 9-1 victory in the District Playdowns.

This game was played two hours after the Lexington/Bedford game but it was like a new team took the ice as all 11 Cat skaters looked to move the puck. Cam Fitzpatrick, out with an ankle injury, took to the bench to cheer his teammates on for the win. Get healthy soon Cam.

It took the Cats more than eight minutes to crack the Wakefield netminder but once they did the goals came fast and furious. Mike Derosa got the Cats going as Nick Riccio took the faceoff and won it back to Mike and his blast hit a Wakefield player and into the back of the net. Mike scored again as he wristed a hard shot off the goalie's stick for the 2-0 lead after one period.

The Cats broke loose for six goals in the second with Mike Jensen taking a feed from Justin Dirienzo and after his first shot was stopped, Mike followed his shot and buried the rebound. Nick Riccio skated down the ice with Kevin Creedon on a two on one and after drawing the defenseman hit Kevin in stride with the puck and Kevin wasted no time beating the goalie for the score.

Evan Brennan shot a rocket from the point hitting the post but Mike Jensen was right there for the rebound and his second tally of the game. Nick Riccio got off a hard shot that was stopped but Casey Pickett was there to bury the rebound into the back of the net. Mike Derosa worked the puck to Matt Stokes for a shot on net and once again Mike Jensen was on the rebound and scored, notching his hat trick in this game.

The prettiest goal of the game was set up when Mike Jensen won the draw back to Jonathan Kincaid and he passed to his defense partner Steven Dunnett who blasted the puck from the point and beat the goalie and gave the Cats a 8-0 lead after two periods.

Steve Wamboldt found Casey Pickett in front of the net midway through the third and she beat the goalie for her second score of the game. The Cats did let down their guard and Wakefield beat Mike Cabral for the 9-1 final. The Cats dominated this game with great defense from Steve Dunnett, Mike Derosa, Jonathan Kincaid and Evan Brennan. The Cats moved on to play Reading.

Reading 2, Wilmington 1

The second game of the Districts pitted the Cats against the Reading Rockets. The Cats knew they would have to play mistake free to beat Reading. In an earlier meeting the Cats were on the short end of a 4-0 game. The Rockets, having been moved up twice in the Valley League had only lost one game all year.

The Cats came out on fire and controlled the game for the first two periods. Mike Cabral who had it easy for a couple of games was called on early and often to make big league stops. Fortunately for the Cats, Mike was up for the challenge as he turned away the Rockets for the first two periods.

The Cats' defense was fantastic as Evan Brennan, Jonathan Kincaid, Steve Dunnett and Mike Derosa elevated their play to force Reading into bad shots.

The forwards hustled up and down the ice making super play after super play, hitting sharp passes and skating hard to get back to help the defense. The Cats took an early lead to start the second period as Matt Stokes and Mike Derosa worked the puck to Mike Jensen who just got on the ice and he curled around the defense and lifted a backhanded shot into the far corner for the tally.

The Cats had chances to increase their lead as Nick Riccio, Justin Dirienzo, Casey Pickett, Kevin Creedon, Steven Wamboldt and Mike Gautreau worked hard in the Reading end to increase the lead.

Mike Jensen's score was the difference after two periods. The Cats knew they had to keep the pace but in the end they ran out of gas and the Rockets got two third period scores and dashed the Cats' hopes of being the best in the district. This game showed us that the Wilmington Squirt B's can compete with the best and will be the best if they continue to play inspired hockey.

Girls Hockey from page 13

of the season against Gloucester. He is also happy with the team's improving defense, particularly from grade 8 students Jackie Rideout and Jen Corcoran, and sophomores Rachel See, Maria Sorrentino and Samantha Dunnett. He said other coaches have taken notice of the rapid growth of the Wilmington girls hockey program.

"In the short time in between (the games against Gloucester), the opposing coach said he noticed a big improvement in the way (the Wilmington) girls skate," said McMahon. "I have a lot of respect for these girls, they're at practice every morning, and not one has quit."

The team returns to action on Thursday at 3 p.m. at the O'Brien rink in Woburn, and host their home opener on Saturday, Jan. 27 against Winchester.

Squirt B's remain busy in league play

The Wilmington Squirt B's invited the Lexington Bedford Squirt B's to make up a Dual State League game and handled them easily 7-1. The Cats outplayed their opponent but did not make easy work of them as the Cats were not moving the puck as well as they could have. Nick Riccio got the Cats on the board first as Kevin Creedon and Mike Derosa worked the puck up to Nick for a back hander that beat the goalie. Lexington Bedford tied the game up before the end of the first period.

Twenty-three seconds later Nick Riccio shifted by the defense and spotted Kevin Creedon in front of the net for the score. Mike Derosa rounded out the scoring in the second period as he took a feed from Steve Dunnett at the Wilmington blue line and skated in for the score and a 4-1 lead after two periods.

The Cats defense kept the puck away from Mike Cabral who was only called on to make a few stops. The defense was led by Jonathan Kincaid, Mike Derosa, Steve Dunnett and Evan Brennan.

The defense was dominant on the Lexington Bedford blueline as they stepped up to keep the puck in their end. Mike Derosa took a shot from the point which was stopped by the goalie but the puck came out to Justin Dirienzo and his shot broke through the pads with Casey Pickett tapping it in. Mike Derosa got the puck up to Casey two minutes later and she got off a back hander beating the goalie. Justin Dirienzo rounded out the scoring with a blast from the goalie right to round out the scoring and giving the Cats a 7-1 win.

Wilmington 5, Dover, N.H. 3
The Cats won their third Valley League game in a row as they beat the Dover, N.H. Squirt A team 5-3. The Cats were trailing 1-0 a minute and a half into the game as Dover capitalized on their first chance of the game.

The Cats would tie the score at one before the end of the period as Justin Dirienzo dug the puck loose in the corner and Casey Pickett scooped it up and fed Mike Jensen in the slot for the score. Dover would take the lead again but Casey Pickett would find Mike Derosa sneaking in from the point and he blasted one past the goalie to tie the score at two.

Dover took the lead again at 3-2 before the end of the second period putting the pressure on the Cats forwards to put the puck in the net. The Cats responded with a super third period. Mike Cabral turned away several scoring bids in the third with help from Mike Derosa, Steve Dunnett, Evan Brennan and Jonathan Kincaid who played solid defense.

The Cats tied the game when Casey Pickett fed Mike Jensen in the slot and Mike beat the goalie for his second tally of the game. Casey Pickett got the Cats moving again as she passed to Justin Dirienzo who found Nick Riccio for the shot. Nick's shot was stopped but Casey crashed the net and flipped the puck over the goalie.

The Cats forwards did a tremendous job in the third period getting back to help the defense as Steven Wamboldt, Matt Stokes, Mike Gautreau and Kevin Creedon got the job done. Nick Riccio spun the defenseman in a circle and beat the goalie five hole with 1:23 left in the game to give the Cats some breathing room.

Dover launched an all out attack in the final minute as the Cats were called for a penalty with one minute left in the game. The Cats battled hard with Evan Brennan coming up with the puck and from just outside the goal crease shot the puck down to the empty net hitting the post and giving Dover one more chance, but the Cats held on for the well deserved 5-3 victory.

Girls travel basketball team falls to Lynnfield

On Saturday, the Wilmington Girls Travel Basketball 5th & 6th Grade Team returned after the holiday break and lost its first conference game to the sixth graders from Lynnfield, 36-23.

The game was quite physical and the opposing players were much taller. Lynnfield played good fundamental basketball enroute to their victory. The lack of practice was quite evident by Wilmington's poor execution and seeing shot after shot just roll off the rim instead of going in the hoop.

The half-time score was Lynnfield 20 and Wilmington 11. This was the first team to score in the 30's against the usually stingy Wilmington defense. This was Wilmington's lowest offensive output thus far in the season. Scoring for Wilmington were: Alyssa Brown (9), Brianne Bozzella (4), Katie Cole (4), Christina Luciano (4) and Nicole Nihan (2).

Wilmington 35 - Winchester 16
Coming back on Sunday, the Blue Lightning wanted no part of the previous day's misfortune. Unfortunately, Winchester had to share the court with a very determined group of Wilmington ball players.

Wilmington regained their solid defensive game and forced many Winchester turnovers to gain a 21 to 8 half-time lead. Sarah McMahon and Alyssa Brown turned in stellar defensive games while Jill Manganelli, Jessica Stira and Casey Godzyk provided solid defensive plays.

Meanwhile, the offense played as a team and ran the ball well.

Colleen Carroll, Danielle Robarge, Nicole Nihan, and Kate McGrath continuously pushed the ball up the court.

Christina Luciano and Alyssa Brown worked hard in the paint while Katie Cole and Brianne Bozzella kept the ball moving around the offensive perimeter. Many excellent screens were set which in turn allowed point guard Katie Cole to lead the team in scoring.

Blue Lightning held Winchester to just 8 second half points while slowing down the overpowering offense and won the game with its largest margin of victory to date (19 points). Scoring for Blue Lightning were Cole (10), Bozzella (6), Brown (6), Luciano (4), Manganelli (4), McMahon (2), Stira (2) and Robarge (1).

Wilmington 39 - Hamilton-Wenham (H-W) 27
The Wilmington 6B Blue Lightning Girls Basketball team traveled to Hamilton-Wenham last Sunday for a second game against H-W. It took a few minutes to get acclimated to the gym and the extra whistles and buzzers from another game being played simultaneously on the adjacent court. Wilmington stepped up the defensive pace to make up for the earlier delays and pulled away to a 21 to 10 half-time lead.

Starting the second half, the team had a few lapses, but was able to adjust relatively quickly and control the damage. Colleen Carroll was named the game's defensive star for creating numerous H-W turnovers (steals, bad passes and jump balls). Offensively, the stars were point guard Katie Cole, the leading scorer and playmaker and forward Casey Godzyk who snagged several offensive rebounds and dropped them back in the hoop.

As evidenced by the number of players scoring and by its stingy defense, this group of 5th and 6th grade girls is evolving into a real basketball team. Striking for the Blue Lightning were Katie Cole (10), Casey Godzyk (8), Jill Manganelli (5), Brianne Bozzella (4), Christina Luciano (4), Alyssa Brown (3), Colleen Carroll (2), Brooke Langone (2) and Nicole Nihan (1).

The Wilmington Blue Lightning's win/loss record now stands at 5-1 in the River Valley Jr. High Girls Basketball League (6C1 Division) and 6-2 overall. At the mid-season point the team is averaging 32 points per game (ppg) while noiding its opponents to an average of 25 ppg. The team's next scheduled game is Sunday (1PM - 21 January) at the Wilmington High School Gym against Billerica.

Mite B's stir up their play

Shaken but not too stirred by twin losses two weeks ago, the Wilmington Mite B hockey team showed the resilience of James Bond last weekend when it bounced back to log two good performances against opponents in the Valley and Dual State Leagues.

The Wildcats were pitted against Valley League opposition from Andover on Saturday and beat them by a score of 6-2, and then lost 5-2 to a formidable Dual State team from North Middlesex in an early morning affair on Sunday.

Chris Robertson assumed the weekend duty in net for Wilmington and was simply spectacular, keeping the B's in both games. The Wildcats' defense was clearly running on all cylinders again, with Brendan O'Brien, Anthony Bruce, David Mello and Peter Leighton swarming like bees over the Andover and N. Middlesex players to give Wilmington ample opportunities to win.

In the Saturday faceoff, Wilmington duked it out head-to-head with Andover for two periods before exploding in the third to run away with the game. Pat Enwright led the way offensively for the B's by posting two goals and two assists and playing his typically strong game. Brendan Collins also shined, notching a goal and two assists.

Brian Contu contributed two goals and an assist and Brett Kidik scored one goal.

Wilmington kicked it off in the first when Brian Contu knocked in a pat Enwright pass to put the B's in front. Both Enwright and defenseman Anthony Bruce got assists on the goal for their great work in getting the puck to the front of Andover's net.

Andover hit paydirt and scored early in the second period to even it up, but Pat Enwright, not content with a tie score, reacted quickly by drilling the puck in at 7:43 of the second to put Wilmington back into the lead. Brendan Collins booked his first assist on that goal, but a stubborn Andover Squad, agitated over Wilmington regaining the lead, attacked and scored again in the second to tie it back up at two before the period ended.

It was Brendan Collins who started the B's scoring blitz in the third period by scoring an unassisted goal to put the Cats up 3-2. Winger Brett Kidik followed suit soon afterward, hitting in the rebound from a nice Matt Larfarello shot to make it 4-2. Larfarello got the assist.

Then, with 2:03 remaining in the game and after a lot of scrambling in front of Andover's net, Enwright kept the B's rampage going when he slapped in a feed from teammates Brian Contu and David Mello. That left Andover trailing by three and both Mello and Contu with assists on the play.

At 10:14 of the period, Brian Contu capped the scoring frenzy and iced a victory for the Wildcats when he scored his second and the B's sixth goal of the day. Pat Enwright and Brendan Collins each earned their second assists for working the puck to Contu.

Sunday's meeting was a different affair, this time with the foes from N. Middlesex capitalizing on their own momentum in the second period to run up a lead that Wilmington ultimately would not be able to overcome.

The B's drew blood first late in the first period when Scott Derrickson launched a high, hard running shot that whistled by the N. Middlesex goalie and buckled the net behind him. Anthony Bruce got an assist on the play for smartly getting the puck up the ice to Derrickson.

Wilmington kept pace through the first few minutes of the second period until, at 3:24 of the period, N. Middlesex went on a tear that would go on for eight minutes and result in four unanswered goals. Wildcat goalie Chris Robertson and his teammates did all they could to stop the scoring spree, but N. Middlesex finished the second with a commanding 4-1 lead.

The third period opened with N. Middlesex' offense cooling off in the face of the B's stepped up defense. Goalie Chris Robertson dug down deep and made a lot of sensational key saves to spur Wilmington's comeback effort and give them a fighting chance.

That chance came, and Wilmington's scoring drought ended, at 8:14 of the third period when Pat Enwright quickly flipped in the rebound from a nice shot on goal by colleague Brendan Collins. That score closed the gap some for the B's, but it proved to be Wilmington's last. N. Middlesex held on defensively and closed out the game by dumping in an open netter at the buzzer to make it 5-2.

During the games, forwards Paul Duffy, Sean Keane, Alex Williams and Kevin Barry gave their all for the Wildcats and made big contributions on both ends of the ice. Their non-stop hustle helped give the B's a comeback weekend they can feel good about.

Next week the cats will resume Valley league action Saturday when they take on Tewksbury.

Raptors edge out Blue Devils in Tewksbury youth hoop

Junior Division

Raptors 17
Blue Devils 15

Defense was definitely the rule in this game as the Raptors held on for the win. Key defensive players for the Raptors were Michael Willey, Anthony Miano, and Chris Hashem. Outstanding offensive players for the Raptors were Derek Yarossi, Kyle Stocki, and Mathew Bradley.

Hornets 27
Lakers 20

The Hornets improved to 5-1 with a close win over a tough Lakers team.

The score went back and forth throughout until the Hornets finally pulled away at the end. The Hornets were sparked by TJ Greene who led the team with 13 points and solid defensive play. Ronnie Wallace also chipped in 6 points and great overall hustle. Brian Dunn played a strong defensive game with some key steals, and Brendan Coughlan and Matt Donahue supplied some tough rebounding.

Cavs 47

Celtics 27

The Cavs continued their winning ways with another victory over the Celtics. After two weeks off, it took a little time to get the offense into the groove. In the first quarter, Ethan Marsh, Mike Deacetis and Sean Teel pushed the Cavs to a quick lead by dropping in 10 points.

In the second quarter, the unit continued to keep putting the ball in the hoop with Jim Mazzapica and Bryan O'Keefe and Josh Pires contributing with 14 points. The defense was equally as strong with Shawn Lakeman and Robbie Hutchins grabbing rebounds and stealing the ball. Also contributing on the defensive end was Todd Higgins, Chris Hayes and Steven Feldhouse.

Hoyas 20

Warriors 13

The Hoyas defeated the Warriors. Offensively, the Hoyas were led by Kevin Pitts, Mark Perry, and Joe Killion. Shiv Patel contributed great offense and defense. With great defensive skills, Scott Fisher, Chris Carney, Mike Walton and Derek Steen were able to hold off the tough Warriors. All players showed great teamwork.

Sixers 37

Kings 14

The Sixers win was a complete team effort with both units for the Sixers playing awesome basketball. Scoring was lead by Donald Berube with 12 points and Scott Oberg with 8 points. James Melloni was in control of the boards for the Sixers. The defense was lead by Tyler Bradley and Tyler Stewart.

Intermediate Division

Jazz 47

Pistons 39

In what looked like the makings of a blowout, things turned into one of the better games played this year to date. At the end of the 1st quarter the Jazz were up 21-7 with fine all-around play of Chris Bruno, Jon Impemba (11 game pts), Christian Murry, Donnie Mackenzie and Dan Saunders. The 2nd quarter saw the Pistons slowly cut into the Jazz lead by pressing them into turnovers running them back for easy baskets as the Pistons cut the lead to 1.

The start of the 3rd quarter saw the Pistons using the full court press to keep the score close but the Jazz caught a second wind and rebuilt the lead to seven at the end of the third with a well executed full court press.

The fourth quarter was one for the books at this level as the Pistons fought back to bring the Jazz lead back to 1 point with just over a minute left. The Jazz slowed down their offense to try and take time off the clock and the Pistons started to foul in hopes that the Jazz would miss a few 1-and-1's, but it was not going to happen on this day as they Jazz made the free throws and got up by 3 points.

The game was won as Brian Alloway (8 pts for the game) made a basket to put the Jazz up by 5 points. On the Jazz next possession, Alloway drove to the hoop and was fouled.

With the Jazz up by 6, Alloway took a deep breath and sank both free throws to put away the game. Defensive players of the game for the Jazz were pinned to Christian Murry (9 rebounds, 6 steals) and Benson Mbuguah (7 rebounds, 5 steals).

The Pistons were ready for a battle having just come off of narrow victory in their previous game. Offensively, James Putney had a big game with 8 points, and Steve Foley made his intermediate debut at the guard spot and demonstrated his versatility with great ball handling distribution.

Defensively, Brendan Tuttle (3 steals, 5 blocked shots) showed poise, anticipation and quickness to help keep the Pistons in the game before fouling out in the fourth quarter. Helping out on defense, Jonathan Chin came on strong forcing several turnovers but the Jazz's great shooting ability proved too much for the Pistons. Strong outtings also came from Shaun Silvia, and Matt Bruno.

Nuggets 53

Bullets 44

Every player on the Nuggets scored and played awesome defense as the Nuggets victory marks them as the only undefeated team left in the league with 6 wins. The team dedicated the game to player Minal Patel who is on the injury list.

The Bullets jumped out to a 4-0 start with their full court zone press but the Nuggets adjusted quickly and lead after the first quarter 15-10 and led by 8 at the half due to heads up passing and good shot selections.

The Nuggets Brian Baptista was huge underneath the boards and dominated the rebounding game. Shane Riddle had 5 points including his first 3 pointer. Jason Hill contributed with a key basket and intense defensive play. Brian Mello led the team in breakaway baskets and Chris Foran scored two big points down the stretch.

The Bullets came back in the fourth quarter pressing man-to-man and outscoring the Nuggets but time ran out as they cut a 15 point lead down to 9 at the final buzzer. Robert Trayah led the Bullets with 11 points including a couple of three point plays in the fourth quarter comeback. James Moody had 6 while Mike Pazzanese, Steve Southard and Jeff Magee chipped in with 4 points.

Sonics 35

Nets 15

The Nets jumped out to a quick 10-2 lead in the first quarter, but it was all Sonics after that to get to a halftime lead by 8 points. Six points from Kyle Monico keyed closing that gap for the Sonics.

The Sonics kept and extended the lead throughout the 2nd quarter with the help of their full court press to lead at halftime 18-10. The game went back and forth in the 3rd quarter but the Sonics opened up the lead in the fourth quarter thanks to the defense of Keith Dykeman and Brian Gorman. Tom MacRae scored 20 of his game high 30 points in the fourth quarter. Top offensive players for the Nets were Scott Peters, Nick Alikonis and Eric Farncroft. Nets top defensive players were Tyler Deshler and Neal Drugan.

Hornets 51

Friars 46

In a very close game from opening buzzer to the end, the Hornets had to come from behind to pull off this win. A fast-paced full-court game was exciting for the players, coaches, and spectators. Both teams were tired and proud at the end of the game.

The Friars led throughout the game and were up 36 to 32 going into the 4th quarter, but the Hornets put together 19 points to finish strong and steal the win keeping the Friars from posting their 3rd straight victory. The Hornets got big games down the stretch from Jason Montes, 13 points and Danny Kasprzak with 11 points. Himanshu Shah hit two 3-pointers and Teddy Hamm scored 8. Defensive players of the game were Timmy Scanlon, Brian Adams and Scott Greenland all of whom took control of the boards. Despite the defeat, the Friars played their best game of the season. They continue to improve and play more aggressively. They hustled, scrambled, jumped and dove for the ball. They never gave up, despite a little foul trouble. Outside scoring by Mike White, Dave D'Entremont and Vishal Patel kept the Friars in the game. Inside scoring by center Dave Legerstrom, with his unique style, added eight important points.

The Friars have learned the value of rebounding and good positioning which kept them in this game. Mark Cardarelli and Dave D'Entremont teamed up to contain the Hornets inside game while Joe Doherty and Mike Perrigo chased the speedy Hornets guards downcourt with much success.

Heat 31

Eagles 19

The Heat picked up a victory in a game that had both teams keeping the other from getting anything in the basket. They played to a dead heat at the end of the 1st and the Eagles led by 1 at the half. Through a series of steals, fast break opportunities and timely shooting the Heat pulled away to polish off the Eagles.

The Heat saw Mike Perry take over the game in the 3rd quarter getting a total of 9 steals and was the high point scorer in the game with 10. Scott Shugrue led the Heat in rebounds with 8, had 2 steals and 1 key blocked shot while adding 4 points. Andrew Holden had his best all around game of the season scoring 4 points and playing an impressively intense defense including 2 steals of his own. Jake Turner put the Eagles in foul trouble with his strong drives to the hoop.

Offensive player of the game for the Eagles was Marc Bliss with 6 points and grabbing 5 rebounds. Steve Tecce made some nice passes in his efforts to set up plays. Kevin Grayson gathered 5 rebounds and played solid defense. Likewise, Diego Martin put in maximum effort to disrupt the Heat's offensive flow. Keith Tashjian did his part to help the Eagles' cause by diving for loose balls and picking up solid defensive rebounds.

Pee Wee A's lose in finals of tourney

The Tewksbury PeeWee A's sponsored by Century 21/J. Borstell recently participated in the MDC Commissioners Cup. This tournament is old time hockey as far as price goes at $30.00 a game and it is a real bargain.

Out of a field of 16 local PeeWee A teams, Tewksbury played four games and made it to the finals losing to a very good Melrose team. Being named runner up and collecting a trophy is a good weekend's work for the team's hard efforts.

Along the way to the finals Tewksbury beat Malden 4-1, Winchester 3-2 and Peabody 2-1. Members of the team are:

Marc Emond	Mike Grasso
Mike Frazier	Ken Maglio
TJ Strong	Chris Myers
Kyle Staples	John Cahalane
Matt Wilkie	Mark Martel
Colleen Fitzpatrick
Shane Doherty
Ryan Mooney	Bryan Duby
Good luck team!

A's blank 'Cats

The Tewksbury PeeWee A's sponsored by Century 21/J. Borstell faced off against a good Wilmington PeeWee A team in the Dual State and skated to a 4-0 win.

The entire team skated and contributed to the shutout. The goals in were scored by Shane Doherty, John Cahalane, Kyle Staples and Chris Myers. Help on those goals came from Matt Wilkie, Michael Grasso (two), Chris Myers, Shane Doherty, Colleen Fitzpatrick and TJ Strong.

A strong defensive game was turned in by Mike Frazier, Kenny Maglio, Mike Grasso and TJ Strong. Marc Emond played a solid game in net to add another shutout to the long list this season.

Eric Stokowski and Eric Giardina limited the Rockets to 22 points.

Bucks 53
Huskies 52

This was a hard fought game with the Bucks pulling it out with a foul shot with 10 seconds remaining in overtime. The Huskies gave one of their best all around efforts. Leading scorer Mike Feener was outstanding, going 8-for-8 from the foul line as well making other important scores. Brad Petrissem was another offensive standout with seven points that lead to the overtime. Brian Ford came through with free throws with less 20 seconds on the clock to force the game to overtime. Andy Lieghton and Chris Alikonis were again a force on the boards. Major defensive efforts where turned in by Mike Cronin, Jon Buehler, Matt Hirsh, Dave Riechert, Kevin Bruce and Alex Herzog.

Squirt IV's play hard

The Tewksbury Squirt IV Redmen, sponsored by The WeatherVane of Tewksbury, added two more games to the W column. On Thursday they faced off against Salem, NH at Skate 3 Tyngsboro.

Robbie Doe started the scoring with a sweet 5-hole shot at 3:15 of the first. Four minutes later, Matt Donahue finished off a play from Derek Murphy and Jeff Kelly, by putting in a backhand and giving Tewksbury a 2-0 edge. Kevin Tavares, playing defense, broke up several key plays, as did linemate Justin Nichols.

The second period saw Tewksbury put on a defensive clinic. The Redmen were twice faced with 5 on three situations, and both times held Salem off. At one point CJ Canto singlehandedly held off 4 Salem attackers and dug the puck out to his teammates.

Goalie James Berkeley made some unbelievable saves, subbing for Matt Bailey, who was down with the flu. James was on loan from the Mite A team. Strong offense was provided by Chris Fowler, Billy Medugno and Shawn Leonard, while Steven Shainker and Ryan Ahearn stepped it up on defense.

In the last period, Donahue took a Jeff Kelly pass and put it in short side for number three. Leonard followed three minutes later with a beauty of his own, from Doe. Kelly scored from Matt Donahue at 11:12. Only 15 seconds passed before Doe put in a Kevin tavares rebound to finish it up at 6-0, giving Mr. Berkeley his first Squirt shutout.

In Sunday mornings predawn game, Tewksbury took on Methuen at Tyngsboro. Our heroes started scoring with Matt Donahue netting number 1 at 3:50, with Robbie Doe and Billy Medugno getting the assists. Jeff Kelly followed 15 seconds later with an unassisted goal, going 5-hole.

Steven Shainker and Ryan Ahearn were working the neutral and defensive zones to the extreme, breaking up plays and stripping the puck. Shawn Leonard, Chris Fowler, CJ Canto and Kevin Tavares kept up the offensive pressure. At 28 seconds of the second period, Tavares stole the puck at the red line and went in alone, faking out the goalie to score Tewksbury's third goal.

On a face off three minutes later, Derek Murphy slid one through to Matt Donahue for his second of the game. Defensive team of Justin Nichols and Shauna Sullivan were outstanding at stopping the rush, while goalie Matt Bailey continued to make awesome saves, including a glove job that robbed Salem of a sure goal.

At 5:07 of the period, Sully stole a pass and zoomed end to end, finishing up with a fantastic 5-hole shot for her first goal of the season, congratulations Shauna.

There was no scoring in the last period, but Tewksbury played great two-way hockey, running their record up to 27-7-1 for the season.

Mite B's reach milestone in win column

The Tewksbury Mite B Redmen sponsored by Hill's Fence and Construction notched wins number 24 and 25 in style. Redmen goalie "Denyan Ryan" Jenkins posted his 10th and 11th shutout of the season as the Mite B's follow up their Burbank Tournament Championship by blanking Chelmsford and Wakefield.

The Mite B Redmen took on the Wakefield Mite B Warriors at the Ristuccia Arena in a Valley League game as they try to keep pace with Wilmington, and they did it in a convincing style. The game started off slowly but eight minutes into it Steve Bruno sent Nick Forti in a break and he fired a wrist shot past the Wakefield goalie. A minute and a half later Brad Tosto and Andrew DeMaio teamed up for the second Redmen goal when DeMaio faked out the Wakefield goalie giving the Redmen a 2-0 lead after one period.

Steve Bruno took a Zac Countie pass and fired a rising wrist shot past the goalie for a 3-0 lead. That is where the scoring finished after two periods.

The Redmen erupted for four goals in the final period. Kyle O'Brien had two goals, Brad Tosto assisted on the first and Robert Pruyne and Phillip Crowley assisted on the second. Robert Pruyne added another goal from Sean Kieren and Allison Frazier. Andrew DeMaio closed out the scoring with Alli Frazier getting her second assist of the game, giving the Redmen a 7-0 win.

The second game of the weekend the Redmen played a non-league contest with Chelmsford. The Redmen used this game to move some players around. The Redmen opened the scoring when Allison Noyes fired a pass to Robert Pruyne went top shelf and past the Chelmsford goalie. Zachary Countie tipped in a Sean Kieren shot that was going wide giving the Redmen a 2-0 lead after two periods. Sean Hannon also assisted on the goal.

Allison Frazier closed out the scoring with her first of the year with the assist going to Andrew DeMaio. Matt Pellrine had a strong game playing both forward and defense helping Ryan Jenkins posting the 3-0 win.

Donated hair helps kids

Locks of Love

By MIA CARTER

Most people donate toys, clothing, time, or even blood to others who are less fortunate. But have you ever considered donating your hair?

One local resident recently went under the scissors, with hopes of helping financially disadvantaged children who are in desperate need of prosthetic hairpieces.

"I've been growing my hair out for two years now!" exclaimed Kenneth Kenneally, 38, of Reading.

"A few years ago, a neighbor told me about an organization called 'Locks of Love.' She was growing out her hair at the time, so that's where I got the idea," said Kenneally, who described his new, cleaner-cut look, as "refreshing."

'Locks of Love' is a non-profit organization, devoted to providing hairpieces to children under the age of 18 who have suffered from some form of medical hair loss.

"I have children of my own and I just thought it would be great if I could help out other children who are less fortunate," said Kenneally, who is a father of four: Stacey, 20; Kelly, 17; Kenny, 13; and Jill, 10.

Kenneally is no stranger to helping children in need. In addition to his recent hair donation, he also explained that he and his family are still in close contact with a former foster-child, Anthony, age 6.

"He's been with us for two years, and he recently went to live with his parent, but we're still very close to him...he comes by on holidays like Christmas and he also spends the weekends," added Kenneally. "He's definitely a close part of our family."

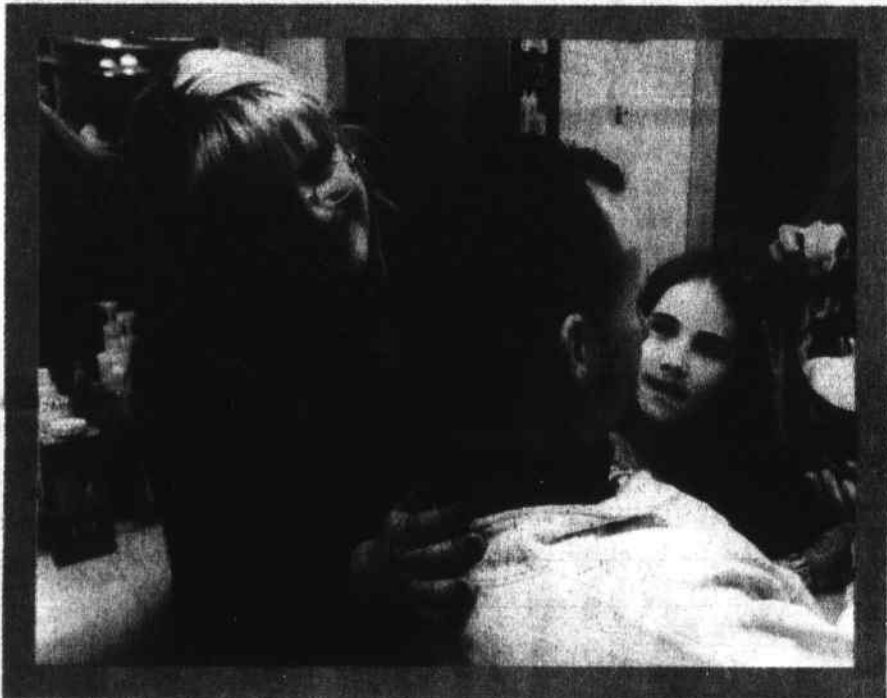

In order to make his donation, Kenneally was required to grow his hair to a length of at least 10 inches. The actual haircut was performed in sections, in order to obtain the maximum length of hair in each bundle.

"My co-workers commented about my hair from time to time...they didn't recognize me

Chezzous in Somerville.

'Locks of Love' reportedly receives about a dozen donations each week, from donors just like Kenneally.

after I got it cut. They were really shocked - actually, I think they're still kind of shocked!" said Kenneally.

Kenneally works as a general cook at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (M.I.T.) Faculty Club, while also holding a similar position at Cuisine

"Most of our donations are sent in by people from all over the United States, but we have received donations from several other countries," explained Kristen Weas, a spokesperson for the organization.

Notably, it's estimated that children comprise over 80 percent of the donors.

The Florida-based organization, formed in 1997, has reportedly provided over 200 hairpieces to children from throughout the United States.

Donor recipients are selected based on nomination forms, which require two letters of recommendation (from a parent, teacher, coach, etc.), a current photo, along with other basic

If my friend, Brian McCarthy, would grow a handle-bar moustache, he would be a perfect double for one of the greatest men who ever entered a boxing ring, and one of the most gentle and kind men of his era, John L. ## Penguin Classic race

Hearty souls, cold weather lovers and those suffering from cabin fever are invited to join the fun at the fifth Annual Penguin Classic on Sunday, February 4 in Wakefield.

The Best Western Lord Wakefield Hotel will be the site for this year's 3.4 mile road race/walk. All proceeds benefit Angel Flight NE, a non-profit organization that provides free air transportation by volunteer pilots in private aircraft to those needing life-saving medical treatment. The Penguin Classic began in 1997 with just 65 runners. Last year, that number swelled to 900 entrants.

The race consists of one lap around Lake Quannapowitt. Prizes will be awarded to the top three finishers in each category which includes Men, Women, Team and Wheelchair entrants. Every pre-registered participant who crosses the finish line will receive a custom-designed, long sleeved T-shirt. Refreshments and music will help take the chill out of the air.

Linda Cottone, speaking on behalf of Reading Co-operative Bank, the lead sponsor of the event, states, "Walkers and runners are encouraged to collect sponsorship money from friends, family and co-workers. So get a group together from work, your neighborhood, or community organization and turn out on Sunday, February 4 to walk, run, or just to cheer folks on!"

Angel Flight NE operates out of Lawrence Municipal Airport, 492 Sutton Street, North Andover.

Those interested in participating in the Penguin Classic, or contribution to Angel Flight NE should call 978-794-6868 or contact the organization by e-mail at roadrace@angelflightne.org. Registration is $18 in advance, and $20 on the day of the event.

'Bank' notes in Wilmington

"The town officially welcomed its new Treasurer-Collector," notes the "Wilmington Town Crier."

"His name? Manuel Ronald Mendes.

"Town Manager Michael Cairra formally announced his top pick for the position at a Board of Selectmen meeting.

"I believe that my appointment of Ron Mendes will serve the best interests of the Town of Wilmington," said Cairra.

"Mendes, a Somerville resident, has served the Town of Lincoln as its Assistant Treasurer-Collector since 1998. The position, an elected and part-time and no-paying title, carries the full responsibilities of a municipal Treasurer-Collector.

"Prior to his employment in Lincoln, Mendes spent seven years serving as an administrator for financial aid and student accounts at Simmons College and Emerson College.

"Speaking of colleges, Mendes himself is a 1990 graduate of the University of Denver, where he majored in Finance and received a Bachelor's degree in Business Administration. His education doesn't stop there, though, for he is just about finishing up his Doors open at 6:45 and the demonstration will begin at 7 pm. Susan will show the craft of scrapbooking and will present information to store memorabilia in a creative way. She is a teacher and a consultant with Creative Memories.

The evening can be of special interest to the artist and craftsman alike in helping organizing information and pertaining materials of their special interest. The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting.

work for a Master's degree in Public Administration at Suffolk University.

"Mendes holds memberships in the Massachusetts Collectors and Treasurers Association, the American Payroll Association, and the Treasury Management Association.

"Mendes was one of only five individuals out of sixteen applicants who acted on the ads for the position that were placed in newspapers, professional periodicals and their accompanying websites.

"There were no internal applications received," stated Cairra.

Mendes is replacing Acting Town Treasurer Jeffrey Hull, the Assistant Town Manager who temporarily took over the position when Stanley Smith resigned from the post in August.

"Town Manager Cairra had high praise for the man who helped keep the Treasury post running while the two-month search took place.

"Said Cairra, 'Jeffrey Hull has done a remarkable job in a dual capacity.'

"As for Mendes?

"Added Cairra, 'I am fully confident that Ron Mendes will become a valuable and important member of the town's financial team.'

'Select' notes in Lynnfield

"Town Administrator Joseph Maney reported that Town Accountant Gail LaPointe has recommended that an independent auditor give a presentation to the board on general accounting standards concerning the recording of all town assets which has to be implemented by 2003," notes the "Lynnfield Villager."

"Maney said the town's new personnel and payroll software has been purchased and training is underway. The new system was scheduled to run parallel with the old system in December after all the personnel data had been entered and the town began totally with the new system January 1.

"In other business, Maney reported the town's request to participate in a 'peer to peer' state Housing and Development program to provide professional assistance to the Personnel Board to further develop the proposed personnel bylaw was unsuccessful. "The only means they have is to do it themselves or professional help from the professional services account of the Board of Selectmen," Maney commented. He said he will contact the board regarding what way they wish to proceed...."

'Connection Protection' in Reading

"The power protection program recently introduced by Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) residential customers is now called Connection Protection, thanks to Lynnfield's Barbara Beaulieu," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Barbara's winning entry was selected from among over 250 names submitted to the RMLD as part of the contest to name the program. As the winner, she received a point-of-entry meter socket surge protector with installation and a free 10-year lease for the protector.

"Two other names submitted by RMLD customers earned second and third place honors. Voltage Vigilante, submitted by Reading's Ernest A. Lucci, and Plug n' Protect, submitted by Joyce Taurmina of Reading, were selected as the second and third place winners respectively. As the second place winner, Ernest received a Panamax surge protector and a $50 RMLD gift certificate, and as the third place winner, Joyce received a Panamax surge protector and a $25 RMLD gift certificate.

"The contest was a great success and we are grateful to the customers who submitted names for the program," Craig Owen, RMLD Materials Manager said. "We received some wonderful entries and the judges had a hard time making their selection. Congratulations to the three top winners!"

"The power protection program was launched by the RMLD in late summer. Many residential customers have already signed up for the program that protects electrical appliances and sensitive electronic equipment against voltage surges and drops.

"Power dips and swells can happen for a variety of reasons, including appliances cycling on and off, lightning strikes, downed power lines. Cable TV and phone modem lines can also be affected," Craig Owen added.

"Connection Protection offers two ways for residential customers to protect appliances and sensitive electronic equipment against these power surges at the meter, the point where the electricity enters the home, and at the outlet where power surges can enter expensive equipment and appliances...."

A PET'S WINTER SKIN

When winter hits, hand and body lotions practically fly off store shelves as people prepare for the inevitable case of dry skin.

Dogs and cats also experience dry skin, plus an increase in dander, during the winter months.

For dogs, brush them often and bathe them rarely - only when the coat needs cleaning. Use a moisturizing dog shampoo followed by a moisturizing rinse formulated for dogs.

Cats also need frequent combing and little bathing. They bathe themselves almost daily and don't need a bath unless the coat becomes dirty or greasy. Use a cat conditioning rinse after shampooing.

Dogs and cats will both benefit from a healthy diet that promotes a healthy coat. Fatty acid supplements may help reduce dryness.

P.S. Your pet's veterinarian can help you decide on vitamins or supplements that may nourish your animal's coat.

Before buying pet food, check the labels for guaranteed analysis, which includes fat content. There are many quality foods on the market. If you need information or would like a nutritional consultation, call us at 781-245-4404.

From S-1

information about the child. "Prosthetics are provided free of charge or on a sliding scale to children whose families meet the 'Locks of Love' Board of Directors guidelines," according to the organization's website. Once selected, the base for the hairpiece is vacuum-fitted on the recipient, creating a customized prosthetic piece which does not require the use of adhesive. Each hairpiece is made up of approximately ten hair bundles, which are then hand-assembled. The assembly process alone, takes an average of four months. The final result? A child's "crucial self-esteem and confidence is restored."

"I'd (donate) again in a heartbeat!" added Kenneally. "As a matter of fact, I'm getting ready to do it all over again."

For more information on hair donation requirements or child nominations, contact 'Locks of Love' at 1-888-896-1588 or online at www.locksoflove.org

Richie Havens From S-2

Woodstock Festival from recordings, from the movie or from being there. It established his reputation and has become his signature song. As the Festival's opening act, he had already held the audience spellbound for three hours before singing this famous encore. That was the magic of Woodstock.

An Artist for Human Rights Since then, Richie Havens has used his music to convey messages of brotherhood and personal freedom. As he told The Denver Post, "I really sing songs that move me. I'm not in show business, I'm in the communications business. That's what it's about for me." In the late 70s the Israeli Embassy honored his work with an invitation to tour Israel. In 1993, the Dalai Lama of Tibet invited him to perform. He has produced a succession of successful recordings, including "Here Comes the Sun" from his Alarm Clock album, which became a Billboard Top Twenty single. Havens' most recent recordings include "Cuts to the Chase" and "Wishing Well."

Over the years Havens has embarked on a music-making process of continuous growth and evolution, advancing a step further with each new recording. In his words, "My albums are meant to be a chronological view of the items that we've come through, what we've thought about and what we've done to grow and change. There's a universal point that we all respond to, where all songs, apply to everyone and this is what I'm still addressing today." His performance at the Stoneham Theatre promises to be a memorable event.

MATH FIGURES IN NEW EXHIBIT AT MUSEUM

Who has not seen a preschooler proudly hold up fingers to show her age, count with great delight the buttons on a sweater, or pull up a chair to help measure ingredients? Whether or not the counting or measuring is accurate, these images demonstrate that math concepts are explored and learned naturally by the inventive, curious mind. Children as young as 2 years old are ready to learn and to nourish their interest and understanding.

To that end, The Children's Museum opens a new interactive exhibit, "Go Figure!" on January 25. The travelling exhibit encourages children ages 2 through 7 and adults to make the connection between math and everyday life. "Go Figure!" runs through April 30 at the Museum.

"Go Figure!" introduces early math concepts through kid-sized environments inspired by familiar children's books. Each environment offers hands-on experiences with simple math, multiple-role-playing opportunities, and an area for children and parents to read together.

Monika Stadler at Cornerstone

The Cornerstone Coffeehouse located in the Second Congregational Church of Winchester, 485 Washington Street presents an enchanted evening of harp music on Saturday, January 27th.

Monika Stadler, an award winning and internationally acclaimed harpist from Vienna, Austria will be playing her own compositions rooted in the folk, jazz, and classical traditions.

How long do you spend on your e-mail?

Do you find yourself working longer hours lately? It could be due to the amount of time devoted each day to e-mail, a new survey suggested. In the poll, executives said they spend an average of 108 minutes daily reading and sending e-mail messages.

The survey was developed by Accountemps, the world's first and largest temporary staffing service for accounting, finance and bookkeeping professionals. It was conducted by an independent research firm and includes responses from 150 executives with the nation's 1,000 largest companies.

"The speed and simplicity of electronic messaging make it a preferred method of communication in many business situations," said Max Messmer, chairman of Accountemps and author of Managing Your Career for Dummies (Hungry Minds, Inc., formerly IDG Books worldwide).

But Messmer adds, "E-mail is among many technologies that are increasing the pace of business and creating expectations for faster turnaround - ironically, the very tools designed to save time might actually be adding to the number of hours we spend working."

To reduce time spent reading and sending e-mail, Messmer offers the following guidelines:

- Organize incoming e-mail into folders that are labeled for easy retrieval; don't leave old messages in your in box.

- Keep your writing clear and concise. If your message is too complicated for a brief e-mail, consider another form of communication.

- Resist the temptation to read each new e-mail as it arrives. Instead, read and respond to messages several times throughout the day.

lyrical inspired jazz improvisation as well as some traditional and jazz standards. Monika will be accompanied on bass by Berklee College of Music graduate Paul Beaudry.

While a student at the University of Music and Performing Arts in Vienna, Monika was a member of the Vienna Symphonic Orchestra, played with the Vienna National Opera Orchestra, with the Austrian Broadcasting, and lower Austria Sound Artists Orchestras and played at the Carinthian Summer Festival, an important Austrian Summer concert series.

After graduating with highest honors in 1990, she received scholarships which she used to study jazz harp and to work with internationally acclaimed jazz-harpist Deborah Henson-Conant, the well known jazz bass musician David Clark, professor at the Berkeley School of Music in Boston, and "free improvisational" music with David Darling, Director of Music for People. Monika has received honors as a solo harpist and has recorded four solo harp CDs, Two Was, Another World, On The Water, and Song For The Earth.

Currently living in New York City, Paul Beaudry is a former

L.A. session player. # National Heritage From S-2

Pere Lachaise cemetery to bid farewell to "La Petite Mome," the little sparrow. Kate Sullivan's compelling portrayal brings her tragic story to life. Accompanied by Roberto Cassan on accordion, Sullivan intersperses monologue with poignant renditions of such Piaf classics as "La Vie en Rose," "L'Accordeoniste," "Hymne a L'Amour," and

Je Ne Regrette Rien. The tale she weaves reveals the sublime as well as the pathos in Piaf's inner world.

Beverly Creasey of The Theater Mirror describes "Piaf": "Sullivan has crafted a memory play. She doesn't impersonate the little sparrow as much as she invokes the essence of her struggle over adversity. No one embodies the melancholy French spirit better than Piaf, and no one does Piaf better than Sullivan."

Brookline resident Sullivan has been captivating Boston area theatergoers for over a decade. Among the shows she has written and produced are "Sweeney Astray," a musical adaptation of Seamus Heaney's translation of the epic Irish poem "Lenua: The Love of Kurt Weill." Said Boston Globe Critic Elijah Wald, "It was difficult to take one's eyes off Kate Sullivan ... she sang with moving simplicity."

Last March Sullivan was a featured soloist in Opera UnMet's trademark Broadway/opera review, "Elegant Contradictions" at Jordan Hall. She has numerous recordings including "Lettres de Paris," which was used in the Spielberg/Dreamworks production of "The Love Letter."

School Notes

Celebrating art, music, and merit

Anthony draws, in Woburn

"You can express yourself with art to show your feelings. It allows you to create something and if you make a mistake, it is okay because you can erase it and start over," says 12-year-old Anthony Cunis of Woburn.

Anthony was an award-winner at "Celebrating - Art Expressions" hosted by the Learning Disabilities Association of Massachusetts (LDAM); and his design, complete with poem, has become one of the four cards featured in the LDAM notecard collection displayed at the LDAM website (<http://www.ldam.org/cards.htm>).

The patchwork shapes themselves - red, blue, green, yellow, star, triangle, rectangle, circle - provide the border for his poem, "The Playground," a most tempting place to retreat on a January day like today.

"The playground," he begins, "is my favorite place ... to swing and jump and play.... I wish that I could take my friends ... and stay there for a day ... I usually like to fly my kite ... or play tag with my friends, ... or climb a tree, or play baseball, ... the joy just never ends ...."

Anthony created the card before his "graduation" from Mount Hope Christian Academy in Burlington. Both his card and his photo can be found in the latest issue of "New England Family."

"Celebrating Art Expressions" was made possible through a grant from The Learning Lab at Lesley College. For more information on LDAM, call 781-891-5009.

Pete, Megan, Jennifer play, in North Reading

Thirteen of North Reading's High's aspiring musicians recently attended the Massachusetts Music Educator's Association District Music

Auditions, "with hopes," notes the "North Reading Transcript," "that all their practicing and years of lessons would finally pay off. Students were auditioning for District Chorus and Band.

"Each voice and instrument is assigned a specific piece on a yearly basis by the music educators of the district. Copies are purchased in each community and musicians start their work. Nearly 2000 students throughout the district audition each year for positions in Band, Chorus, and Orchestra.

"This year North Reading is proud to announce that three of the auditioners have not only been accepted to district but have also been recommended for an All-State Audition this month. They are Megan Brown, Jennifer Cornetta, and Peter Pappavaselio ...."

Shara, Jeff, Mitul shine, in Burlington

Burlington High Principal Dr. Maynard Suffredini recently offered his congratulations to Shara Hegde, Jeff Gottfredsen, and Mitul Patel, all of whom are National Merit - Scholarship 'commended' students.

Rebecca, Andrea, Melissa, Heather, Clara: North Reading scores again

Four North Reading High students were named commended students - and a fifth, a semifinalist - in the 2001 National Merit Scholarship Program.

Melissa Stewart, Rebecca Jervey, Heather Gregoire, and Andrea Giannattasio have been

MOVIE REVIEWS BY PAUL FEE

"Dracula 2000" falls short

MOVIE: "WES CRAVEN PRESENTS DRACULA 2000"
GRADE: **

Review: Horrormeister Wes Craven has his name attached to this project as a producer, and his name is included in the title to lure in fans of his 'Scream' movies, though this film falls far short of those horror classics.

The plot is an updating of the classic Dracula story, with the interesting idea that the deadly Count wouldn't seem all that out of place in today's society, with Gothic groups sprinkled throughout society and people who practice the art of vampirism living in suburbia. But that's where any new ground broken by this film ends, as it slips into a generic tale where the pretty people get killed, and Dracula is once again defeated (maybe next time he should just stay in the coffin).

commended for scoring in the top five percent on the 1999 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, according to the "North Reading Transcript."

And Clara Chen has been named a semifinalist after placing in the top 16,000 on the exam, a place reserved for fewer than one percent of the nation's high school seniors.

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867. We welcome student writing.

If you must see this one, wait for the DVD.

SHORTTAKES
MOVIE: "TRAFFIC"
GRADE: ****

Review: Steven Soderbergh, the director of 'Erin Brockovich', turns in his second top notch film of the year with this honest, accurate depiction of the often futile war on the illegal drug trade.

A strong ensemble cast consisting of heavy-hitters like Michael Douglas, Catherine Zeta-Jones, Don Cheadle, Dennis Quaid, and others show that the world of illegal drugs is like a hydra - no matter how many heads you cut off in the fight to kill it, more will grow in their place. Cheadle is excellent as a cop trying to take down a cartel in California, while Douglas has a strong turn as the country's new drug czar who can't even keep drugs out of his own house after his daughter begins experimenting with cocaine and alcohol.

Soderbergh uses the interesting technique of differentiating between lights and colors to separate the different storylines, which run parallel to each other without the characters knowingly crossing paths. The movie doesn't have a happy ending, either, which further drives home the message that the war is far from being won, if it can be won at all.

MOVIE: "CASTAWAY"
GRADE: ***

Review: Actor Tom Hanks is reunited with director Robert Zemeckis (the team that brought you 'Forrest Gump') to bring you this tale of a modern man who must get in touch with his wild side to survive following a plane crash.

Hanks plays a higher-up in the FedEx company, a man obsessed with time and his job. The company plane he is on crashes far off course in the Pacific Ocean, and eventually he washes ashore on a deserted island, where he must learn to survive on his own.

The film drives home the importance of examining what is important in life, learning that all our worldly possessions mean little when compared to the importance of those who come into our lives.

MOVIE: "WHAT WOMEN WANT"
GRADE: **

Review: Mel Gibson is back in this holiday movie about a man who really understands women - because he can hear their every thought.

Gibson plays a womanizing bachelor who, after a bizarre and unbelievable bathroom accident is able to hear what women are thinking. At first he finds it amusing to get in their heads, but then he uses his new power to foster a relationship with a woman at work, played by Helen Hunt.

The movie has some genuinely funny moments, and Gibson has really developed over the years into a very good comedian, at least on film. But there are too many sentimental moments, as the film has a hard time deciding whether it wants to be a comedy, or an examination of the relationships between men and women.

MOVIE: "PROOF OF LIFE"
GRADE: **

Review: The movie that helped end the marriage of Meg Ryan and Dennis Quaid leaves a bit to be desired in the plot department.

Russell Crowe plays a man hired to rescue Meg Ryan's husband, who is a kidnapping victim. During the many hours that Crowe's and Ryan's characters spend together, they begin to develop a relationship, even though they are working to rescue her husband.

The movie is much longer than it needs to be to tell the story, and Ryan's role isn't as meaty as it should be. Both actors try their best with what their given, but Crowe gives the better performance.

Winterize your backyard

Now that winter is here and cold, snowy days are in the forecast for the Northeast over the next several months, it is time to assess our backyard gardens to see how wildlife-friendly they are or could be with a little human help. Since 1973, the National Wildlife Federations Backyard Wildlife Habitat Program has been helping people across America to save a place for wildlife right in their own backyards. By providing food, water, cover, and places for wildlife to raise their young backyard gardeners can make a difference.

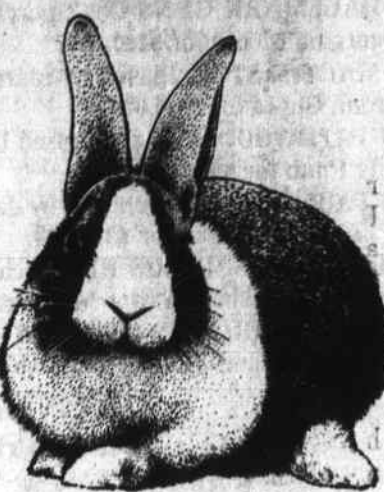

During the colder months, most critters are gearing up for Spring by searching for high energy food, reliable water sources for drinking and bathing, and safe shelters from harsh weather and predators. Birds, mammals, reptiles, amphibians even insects could use some assistance from winter gardeners in their efforts to survive.

The easiest and best way to offer winter food for wildlife is by planting vegetation that produces berries, nuts or seeds. Many of the berry-producing shrubs native to the Northeast such as the highbrush cranberry, sumac, and the deciduous winterberry holly produce abundant fruits that serve as an important food source for birds like the cedar waxwing and uncommon pine grosbeak well into early spring.

Leave seed heads on wildflowers rather than deadheading them this will provide visual interest in a winter garden and feed the wildlife at the same time. Some mammals and bird species depend on these plant foods for sustenance. For example, juncos sparrows, goldfinches and redpolls eat the seeds of ragweed and native species of sunflowers, mints and thistles.

Remember to use plants that are native to your area they will adapt to your soil and climate conditions, and are the best way to provide habitat for wildlife. Once established, native plants require less water and fertilizer, making them watershed-friendly landscaping choices, contributing less pollution to our rivers and streams.

Bird feeders of course, see the most activity in winter when natural foods are scarce. High-calorie foods like black oil sunflower seed and suet can provide enough energy to help birds through cold winter nights. Place feeders where they will be protected from the wind and are close to the house for easy viewing. Remember to keep feeders clean to protect birds from the spread of disease caused by moldy seed or seed contaminated by droppings.

Feeders can also provide food for squirrel's and white-footed mice and even indirectly provide for predators like foxes and owls that might feed on smaller, seed-eating creatures.

Providing cover from cold winter weather and predators is equally important for backyard critters especially in new suburban developments where the land has been cleared of vegetation. Planting native evergreens such as cedar, fir, spruce and hemlock can provide this valuable cover for numerous songbirds and small mammals. If they pose no hazard, dead trees can be left standing to provide safe cavities for wildlife, including flying squirrel's, porcupines and raccoons.

To find out how to get your yard certified as an official Backyard Wildlife Habitat check out National Wildlife Federations website at www.nwf.org/habitats or contact us at 800-822-1919.
